Second Lindbergh Ransom Bill Discovered

LATEST CLUE WILL BE HARD TO RUN DOWN

MYSTERIOUS 'JAFSIE' STILL WORKING ON CASE

Hopewell, N. J., April 13. (AP) The 72-year-old "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh case rode an elevated train and a motor car in quest of new contacts with the kidnapers today while police followed the trail of one of the bills he used in a futile $50,000 ransom payment.

Still confident of his ability to negotiate further with the abductors, the retired educator, Dr. John F. Condon, moved to and from his New York home with amazing rapidity.

Got Bill at Bank

Meantime, a New York housewife, whose interest in the fate of the stolen son of the Lindberghs led her to check the numbers of her husband's currency, gave authorities a new clue to pursue.

Mrs. David Isaacs found a $20 bill her husband had obtained at a branch bank bore one of the numbers announced by the treasury. Officials of the bank were able to say only that the bill came to them either Monday April 14 or the following day. A formal statement confirmed this afternoon that the ransom was paid Saturday, April 2.

Since the bank's customers numbered more than 1,500 on each of the two days the problem of tracing the bill farther was a large one. Police and secret service agents joined in the hunt.

Still Has Contact

Dr. Condon said early in the day that he both "had and has" means of reaching the kidnapers.

He said he knew nothing of an advertisement signed "Jafsie" appearing in a Washington newspaper.

"Ato yes will work with you alone and tell nobody. Jafsie," read the advertisement.

"Probably somebody is using my name," said Dr. Condon.

Dr. Condon's trips from his home were made in a car driven by Ralph Acker, a son-in-law.

On his last departure late in the day he carried a black bag and drove only a short way before he transferred to an elevated train.

Col. Henry Breckinridge, attorney for Col. Lindbergh, called at the Condon home in the afternoon and it was believed he had seen the educator. Later it was learned that Dr. Condon had departed by a rear entrance before Col. Breckinridge arrived and that the attorney had not waited for his return. Col. Breckinridge expressed annoyance at the crowds attracted to Dr. Condon's home.

Strange Goings On

A strange incident which occurred in front of Dr. Condon's home about 8 o'clock tonight heightened the belief that extensive efforts involving numerous "go-betweens" were being made to conduct renewed communication with the kidnapers.

A closed car bearing a carefully dressed middle aged, bespectacled man parked opposite the Condon home after maneuvering about with its lights cut off. The occupant, apparently nervous, crossed the street and walked past the educator's residence after hesitat-

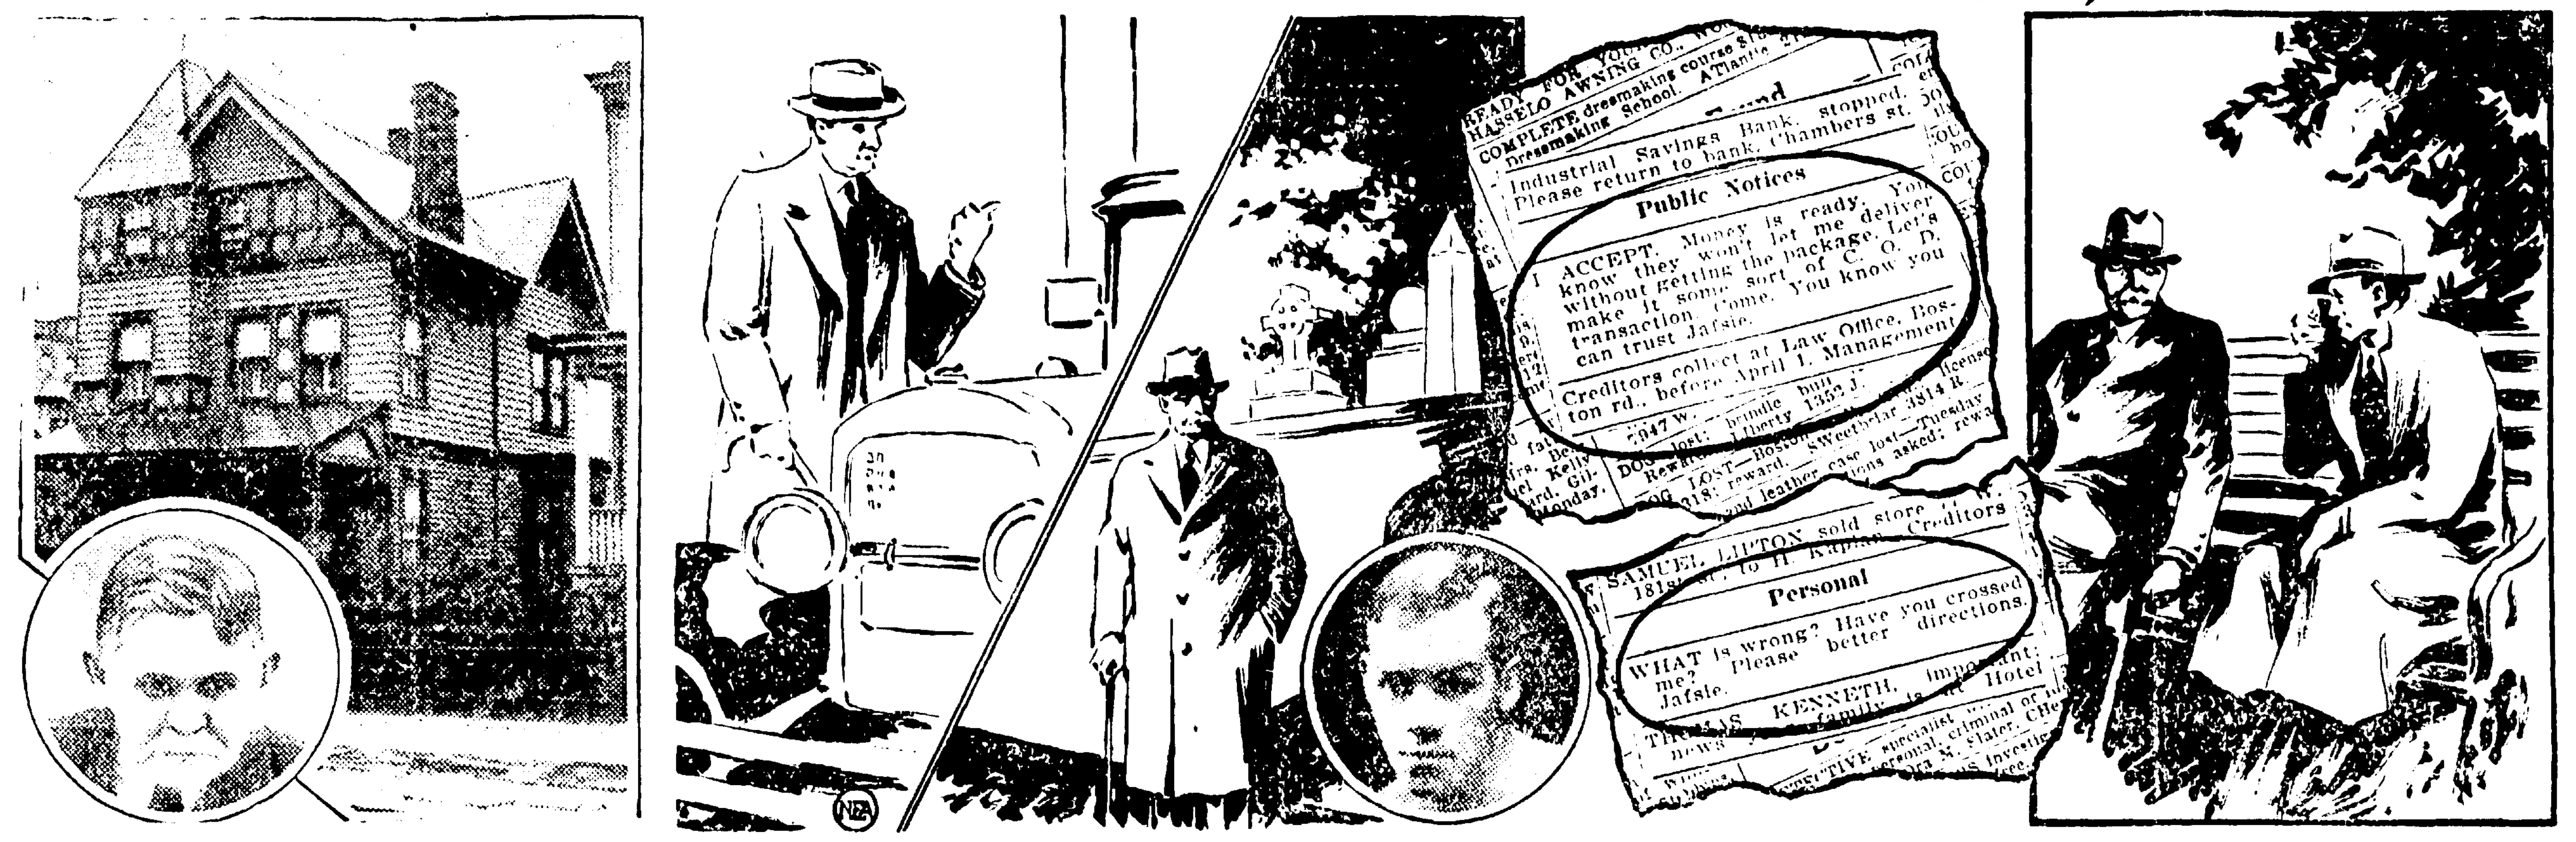
HOW LINDBERGH'S "JAFSIE" MET KIDNAPERS IN $50,000 PAYOFF



Dr. John F. Condon, 72, Fordham College lecturer, identified as the mysterious "Jafsie" advertiser and the man who paid over the $50,000 cash to men identified as kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, is shown at left together with his home in the Bronx. After a series of advertisements, he was summoned by taxi one night to a Yonkers cemetery. There a man vaulted the cemetery wall, sat beside Dr. Condon on a bench and discussed the Lindbergh case, making terms for the baby's return. After advertisement at top of those shown above was published, Dr. Condon, in an auto driven by Al Reich, former heavyweight white hope (shown in inset), met the kidnapers in a secluded spot in the Bronx where he gave them the money while Colonel Lindbergh waited in another car a block away. The baby was to be returned in a few days. When nothing happened the final "Jafsie" advertisement shown above was published and the next day thereafter Lindbergh disclosed he believed he had been double-crossed, although confident he had contacted the kidnapers and hopeful that the baby still would be returned. Dr. Condon continued to seek new contact.

SMITH REFERS TO GOVERNOR AS DEMAGOGIC

OPENLY VOICES HIS BREAK WITH OLD FRIEND

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Modifying his previous statements that he would not oppose or favor any candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination before the national convention, Alfred E. Smith tonight hurled a direct challenge to the aspirations of the Democratic party's leading candidate—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ready For Battle

Speaking as titular head of the party before thousands gathered at a Jefferson Day banquet in the Willard hotel, the 1928 nominee quoted from Roosevelt's recent radio address without referring to him by name and said:

"I will take off my coat and vest and fight to the bitter end any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the working people of this country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor."

In his prepared speech, Smith had also said he would rather have the convention remain in session all summer than nominate a weak candidate with a "half-baked" platform. But he skipped this in delivery. As is his custom he departed frequently from his manuscript.

Roosevelt Absent

Roosevelt, who is now far in the lead for the nomination with 216 pledged and claimed delegates, could not attend the rally, but his name, with most of the other prominent members of the party, was cheered as Chairman John J. Raskob mentioned them one by one.

Roosevelt came in for applause when Raskob read a telegram from him expressing regret he could not be here and saying unemployment and economy problems required his attention at Albany at this time.

Smith was applauded frequently, but his proposal that the United States "forget" the foreign debts due us for 20 years with a 25 percent credit allowed meanwhile on the gross value of products purchased from America, received only a few scattered handclaps.

Byrd Proposes Wet Plank

Former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia preceded Smith in the speech-making and caused a stir among the more than 2,000 banqueters when he offered as a

Stork's Cutting Down Too, Small Babies In Vogue

Youngstown, O., April 13 (AP) The stork, along with most other people these days, is economizing, it seems, and smaller babies are the vogue.

Eugene Albert Jordan made no particular bid for world attention until today when he was three months old.

And then, realizing that one-pound Baby St. John out in Kansas City and other flyweights who have been bobbing up here and there were monopolizing attention, Eugene Jordon, who weighed 15 ounces at birth, peeped out from his hot water bottle nest and called for reporters.

And it was high time. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Jordon of Craig Beach, Lake Milton, near here, is rapidly losing his claim to the title of world's smallest mite.

He tipped the scales at three pounds one ounce today, although seven ounces of that was clothes.

Eugene's first meals consisted of 25 drops of milk from a medicine dropper. But in about ten day he was demanding a full ounce of groceries for each and

HITLER PARTY MUST DISBAND

German Gov't Dissolves All Quasi-Military Organizations

BY TOM WILHELM
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Berlin, April 13 (AP) The German government today ordered Adolf Hitler to disband his army of 400,000 national socialist shock troops and to put an end to terrorizing activities for which it held him and his legion responsible.

This blow at the strongest single political organization in the nation came in the form of an emergency decree signed by President Paul Von Hindenburg. As soon as it was promulgated police throughout the country proceeded to enforce it by invading the various Nazi headquarters and seizing materials of war and propaganda.

The presidential decree dissolved immediately all "quasi-military organizations of the national socialist workers party, especially the storm troops and police formations, with all staffs and other institutions belong thereto, including observers and reserves; motor, marine and cavalry divisions; aviation, automobile and sanitation corps; training schools and barracks, and supply departments."

The end of the Hitlerite army was decreed on the eve of diet elections in five states, to be held April 24. At that time the Nazis and the Nationalists will make their supreme effort to overthrow the present Prussian government.

Scores of national socialist headquarters were closed and a number of Hitlerites arrested as hundreds of policemen searched for and seized forbidden uniforms and other materials.

216 DELEGATE VOTES SLATED TO ROOSEVELT

SMALL NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR IN ILLINOIS

Chicago, April 13 (AP) If the Democrats had to pick their presidential nominee tonight, and only those states that had already picked convention delegates could vote, the first ballot would look something like this:

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, 216.
Sen. James Hamilton Lewis, 50.
James A. Reed, 36.
Gov. William H. Murray, 23.
Alfred E. Smith, 1.
In doubt, 104.

This was the standing of pledged and claimed delegates, revised to include yesterday's primaries and state conventions. It included 26 instructed for Roosevelt by Kentucky's state convention; 16 from Nebraska where Roosevelt ran far ahead of Murray and Speaker John Garner in a preference vote, and the "favorite son" support of Illinois for Lewis, 50 delegates which put him in second place.

Hoover Gaining

The returns today also showed President Hoover making great strides toward renomination. In conventions Missouri instructed 41 delegates having 33 votes for him and Florida 16. His supporters claimed 17 as a result of Nebraska's primary and a large share of the 50 uninstructed delegates elected in Illinois.

County Conventions Endorse H. J. Rushton

Resolutions endorsing Senator H. J. Rushton of Escanaba as a delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago in June were unanimously approved at Republican county conventions in Menominee and Delta counties Wednesday.

In presenting the resolution to the Menominee convention, W. F. Doyle, himself a candidate to succeed Senator Rushton, who recently announced that he would not seek the office again, declared that "it is the duty of every delegate to this convention to cast his vote and go on record as not only favorable but sincerely desirious of sending Senator Rushton to the Republican national convention."

"Senator Rushton," he added, "has been one of the anchors of the Republican party in northern Michigan for many years. In times of stress as well as times of prosperity, he has held to his faith in the party. He has never flinched in his duty to his constituency. He has been our chosen ambassador to Lansing for six years. Now let us send him as our ambassador to this national convention, to represent our interests in a national assemblage ably, fearlessly and efficiently as he has represented them in state assemblages."

The Delta county resolution, presented by the resolutions committee consisting of Judge Judd Yelland, Edgar Anderson and John P. Norton, and adopted by unanimous vote, read as follows:

"It Is Hereby Resolved, by the Republican County Convention this day assembled, that in recognition of the public services performed by the Hon. Herbert J. Rushton as State Senator of this State and his services to the Republican Party of this State;

"We Hereby Endorse him as a District Delegate to the Republican National Convention to be held in the City of Chicago, as now called, as one of the delegates to said National Convention from the Eleventh Congressional District of Michigan, and the delegates this day elected to the District Convention to be held at Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan, for the purpose of selecting delegates to the National Convention are hereby directed to use all honorable means to secure his election as a delegate to the Republican National Convention."

Schoolcraft Supervisors Hear Report of Poor Department Probe

Manistique, April 13 (Special) Wesley J. Gilligan, newly elected member of the board of supervisors, was chosen chairman of the board at the opening meeting yesterday afternoon, succeeding Charles H. Howard of Hiawatha township who held the post for the past two years. Gilligan received seven votes in the ballot, Howard five, and Harry Ericksen, one.

Poor Report Given

The report on the poor commission investigation, submitted by Justice W. G. Stephens who acted as the one man grand jury in the probe, was the highlight of the afternoon. The detailed report which will be published in full in tomorrow's edition of this paper, showed that a good deal of criticism to which the board has laid itself liable, seems due to the use of a defective system in which some of the board members and the superintendent of the county infirmary have mixed ther personal business enterprises with that of the county.

Officer Demonstrates Suicide; Shoots Self

Detroit, April 13 (AP) Demonstrating how he believed a woman committed suicide, Allen W. Kent, attorney and former assistant prosecutor, accidentally shot and killed himself today in the office of Fred H. Frahm, chief of detectives.

Kent, who was a member of the prosecutors's staff for six years, died in Receiving hospital 45 minutes after the accident.

Henry Piel, deputy chief of detectives, said Kent was sitting in Frahm's offices, conversing about cases he had tried in past years. Discussing the case of Lonnie Jenkins, whom Kent defended in a murder trial, the attorney drew a pistol he was carrying, to demonstrate his theory of how Jenkins' wife killed herself.

Piel said Kent placed the gun to his temple, and was warned to be careful, but Kent said:

"Don't worry. This isn't loaded."

Still describing the defense theory of Mrs. Jenkins' moves, he pulled the trigger, the gun was discharged and he fell forward on the desk. Officials said the gun, carried by Kent for protection, had only one bullet in the chamber.

Kent defended Ted Pizzino, one of three men acquitted of killing Jerry Buckkley, Detroit radio announcer. Recently Kent defended Dr. Rudolph G. Tenerowicz, former mayor of Hamtramck, but lost the case when Tenerowicz was convicted of conspiring to protect vice.

STATE DEMOS CANNOT AGREE ON CANDIDATE

COMSTOCK APPEARS FAVORED FOR GOVERNOR

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Saginaw, Mich., April 13 (AP) The Democratic pre-primary convention system was all but foundered today by a wave of enthusiasm inspired by what party adherents are convinced is their best chance for victory in many years.

Called for the purpose of endorsing candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, the convention found so many candidates straining at the barrier that party leaders decided to let each district endorse the name of its preference. That was as far as the pre-primary selection went.

Comstock Is Favorite

The net result was about as follows:

William A. Comstock, veteran of many losing campaigns, appeared to be the No. 1 choice for the gubernatorial nomination. He received more applause than any of the others. In addition, bands blared when he entered the convention hall, when he ascended the platform and when he made a brief speech.

Others who received the endorsement of one or more congressional districts (without order of preference) were: former Judge Arthur J. Lacy, Detroit; Claude S. Carney, Kalamazoo; Frank A. Picard, Saginaw, and Edmund C. Shields, Lansing.

Miner Won't Run

The name of John W. Miner, Jackson, chairman of the state prison commission, was placed before the convention then withdrawn and a spokesman declared Miner would not run under

With Legislators At State Capitol

The administration suffered its first legislative defeat when the Armstrong bill creating a commission to study state employment failed to muster a majority vote in the house. Administration leaders saved the measure, however, for another vote.

Many members were absent from the legislature attending county Republican conventions.

Senate highway committee failed to report out road-fund bill. No agreement was reached on a definite final draft of the measure as members debated new plan for distribution of funds on a population basis.

State conservation commission forecast further heavy conservation reductions. Members will meet with finance committee of the state administrative board tomorrow in an attempt to balance the conservation budget.

Annoyed By Pipe, Youth Confesses He Murdered Man

Los Angeles, April 13 (AP) Blue clouds of smoke pouring from an old tobacco pipe between the teeth of a police detective, drew a confession today from Alvin Eller, 23, to participation in the holdup and killing of a North Carolina merchant.

Crying out after hours of examination, "I can't stand that pipe any more; I'll tell you everything," Eller, arrested here on information supplied by police of Valdese, N. C., admitted aiding in the robbery last February 18 of Gus Bonous, Valdese merchant, killed when he resisted the robbers.

Eller gave police the names of two other men, one of whom, Dwight Beard, he said, was the killer.

ANOTHER BEER PLAN OFFERED

Manufacturers Want Beverage Legalized as Revenue Measure

BY FREDERICK V. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 13 (AP)—A Democratic charge that Secretary Mills is avoiding responsibility of proposing new taxes brought a prompt invitation today for him to appear a second time before the senate finance committee.

The treasury chief as promptly accepted. He will sit down with the committee tomorrow to talk over ways of balancing the budget and perhaps answer the assertion made at the tax bill hearings today by Senator Harrison (D. Miss.) that he "is not willing in this crisis to assume responsibility for making new recommendations."

On Mills' behalf, Chairman Smoot (R. Utah) told Harrison that the administration through the treasury has already submitted not one but two tax programs and cited the secretary's own words to show he has pledged himself to cooperate to the fullest extent.

The committee spent the entire day at its task of working out the best possible means of balancing the budget.

Submits Beer Plan

From a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, one of a long succession of witnesses heard, came a proposal that beer be legalized and taxed as a means of raising $270,000,000.

"We urge the amendment of the Volstead act," said James A. Emery, association counsel, "and the regulated manufacture of a cereal beverage with a higher alcoholic content as an indispensable revenue measure.

"We are concerned neither with the pros nor cons of prohibition. The only issue is whether we shall have beer, with or without revenue. x x x We urge the permissable manufacture of a palatable non-intoxicant, competing with an illicit beverage, to produce revenue in a national emergency."

W. J. GILLIGAN HEADS BOARD

Schoolcraft Supervisors Hear Report of Poor Department Probe

Manistique, April 13 (Special)—Wesley J. Gilligan, newly elected member of the board of supervisors, was chosen chairman of the board at the opening meeting yesterday afternoon, succeeding Charles H. Howard of Hiawatha township who held the post for the past two years. Gilligan received seven votes in the ballot, Howard five, and Harry Ericksen, one.

Poor Report Given

The report on the poor commission investigation, submitted by Justice W. G. Stephens who acted as the one man grand jury in the probe, was the highlight of the afternoon. The detailed report which will be published in full in tomorrow's edition of this paper, showed that a good deal of criticism to which the board has laid itself liable, seems due to the use of a defective system in which some of the board members and the superintendent of the county infirmary have mixed ther personal business enterprises with that of the county. Names of the witnesses and

Officer Demonstrates Suicide; Shoots Self

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—Demonstrating how he believed a woman committed suicide, Allen W. Kent, attorney and former assistant prosecutor, accidentally shot and killed himself today in the office of Fred H. Frahm, chief of detectives.

Kent, who was a member of the prosecutors's staff for six years, died in Receiving hospital 45 minutes after the accident.

Henry Piel, deputy chief of detectives, said Kent was sitting in Frahm's offices, conversing about cases he had tried in past years. Discussing the case of Lonnie Jenkins, whom Kent defended in a murder trial, the attorney drew a pistol he was carrying, to demonstrate his theory of how Jenkins' wife killed herself.

Piel said Kent placed the gun to his temple, and was warned to be careful, but Kent said:

"Don't worry. This isn't loaded."

Still describing the defense theory of Mrs. Jenkins' moves, he pulled the trigger, the gun was discharged and he fell forward on the desk. Officials said the gun, carried by Kent for protection, had only one bullet in the chamber.

Kent defended Ted Pizzino, one of three men acquitted of killing Jerry Buckkley, Detroit radio announcer. Recently Kent defended Dr. Rudolph G. Tenerowicz, former mayor of Hamtramck, but lost the case when Tenerowicz was convicted of conspiring to protect vice.

STATE DEMOS CANNOT AGREE QN CANDIDATE

COMSTOCK APPEARS FAVORED FOR GOVERNOR

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Saginaw, Mich., April 13 (AP)—The Democratic pre-primary convention system was all but foundered today by a wave of enthusiasm inspired by what party adherents are convinced is their best chance for victory in many years.

Called for the purpose of endorsing candidates for governor and lieutenant governor, the convention found so many candidates straining at the barrier that party leaders decided to let each district endorse the name of its preference. That was as far as the pre-primary selection went.

Comstock Is Favorite

The net result was about as follows:

William A. Comstock, veteran of many losing campaigns, appeared to be the No. 1 choice for the gubernatorial nomination. He received more applause than any of the others. In addition, bands blared when he entered the convention hall, when he ascended the platform and when he made a brief speech.

Others who received the endorsement of one or more congressional districts (without order of preference) were: former Judge Arthur J. Lacy, Detroit; Claude S. Carney, Kalamazoo; Frank A. Picard, Saginaw, and Edmund C. Shields, Lansing.

Miner Won't Run

The name of John W. Miner, Jackson, chairman of the state prison commission, was placed before the convention then withdrawn and a spokesman declared Miner would not run under

With Legislators At State Capitol

The administration suffered its first legislative defeat when the Armstrong bill creating a commission to study state employment failed to muster a majority vote in the house. Administration leaders saved the measure, however, for another vote.

Many members were absent from the legislature attending county Republican conventions.

Senate highway committee failed to report out road-fund bill. No agreement was reached on a definite final draft of the measure as members debated new plan for distribution of funds on a population basis.

State conservation commission forecast further heavy conservation reductions. Members will meet with finance committee of the state administrative board tomorrow in an attempt to balance the conservation budget.

Annoyed By Pipe, Youth Confesses He Murdered Man

Los Angeles, April 13 (AP)—Blue clouds of smoke pouring from an old tobacco pipe between the teeth of a police detective, drew a confession today from Alvin Eller, 23, to participation in the holdup and killing of a North Carolina merchant.

Crying out after hours of examination, "I can't stand that pipe any more; I'll tell you everything," Eller, arrested here on information supplied by police of Valdese, N. C., admitted aiding in the robbery last February 18 of Gus Bonous, Valdese merchant, killed when he resisted the robbers.

Eller gave police the names of two other men, one of whom, Dwight Beard, he said, was the killer.

ANOTHER BEER PLAN OFFERED

Manufacturers Want Beverage Legalized as Revenue Measure

BY FREDERICK V. VOSBURGH
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 13 &—A Democratic charge that Secretary Mills is avoiding responsibility of proposing new taxes brought a prompt invitation today for him to appear a second time before the senate finance committee.

The treasury chief as promptly accepted. He will sit down with the committee tomorrow to talk over ways of balancing the budget and perhaps answer the assertion made at the tax bill hearings today by Senator Harrison (D. Miss.) that he "is not willing in this crisis to assume responsibility for making new recommendations."

On Mills' behalf, Chairman Smoot (R. Utah) told Harrison that the administration through the treasury has already submitted not one but two tax programs and cited the secretary's own words to show he has pledged himself to cooperate to the fullest extent.

The committee spent the entire day at its task of working out the best possible means of balancing the budget.

Submits Beer Plan

From a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers—one of a long succession of witnesses heard—came a proposal that beer be legalized and taxed as a means of raising $270,000,000.

"We urge the amendment of the Volstead act," said James A. Emery, association counsel, "and the regulated manufacture of a cereal beverage with a higher alcoholic content as an indispensable revenue measure.

"We are concerned neither with the pros nor cons of prohibition. The only issue is whether we shall have beer, with or without revenue. x x x We urge the permissable manufacture of a palatable non-intoxicant, competing with an illicit beverage, to produce revenue in a national emergency."

SMITH REFERS TO GOVERNOR AS DEMAGOGIC

OPENLY VOICES HIS BREAK WITH OLD FRIEND

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Modifying his previous statements that he would not oppose or favor any candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination before the national convention, Alfred E. Smith tonight hurled a direct challenge to the aspirations of the Democratic party's leading candidate—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Ready For Battle

Speaking as titular head of the party before thousands gathered at a Jefferson Day banquet in the Willard hotel, the 1928 nominee quoted from Roosevelt's recent radio address without referring to him by name and said:

"I will take off my coat and vest and fight to the bitter end any candidate who persists in any demagogic appeal to the masses of the working people of this country to destroy themselves by setting class against class and rich against poor."

In his prepared speech, Smith had also said he would rather have the convention remain in session all summer than nominate a weak candidate with a "half-baked" platform. But he skipped this in delivery. As is his custom he departed frequently from his manuscript.

Roosevelt Absent

Roosevelt, who is now far in the lead for the nomination with 216 pledged and claimed delegates, could not attend the rally, but his name, with most of the other prominent members of the party, was cheered as Chairman John J. Raskob mentioned them one by one.

Roosevelt came in for applause when Raskob read a telegram from him expressing regret he could not be here and saying unemployment and economy problems required his attention at Albany at this time.

Smith was applauded frequently, but his proposal that the United States "forget" the foreign debts due us for 20 years with a 25 percent credit allowed meanwhile on the gross value of products purchased from America, received only a few scattered handclaps.

Byrd Proposes Wet Plank

Former Governor Harry F. Byrd of Virginia preceded Smith in the speech-making and caused a stir among the more than 2,000 banqueters when he offered as a

More than half the victims are children.

The symptoms are similar to those of ptomaine poison.

One hundred ninety pupils of the high and grammar schools when home ill, as did several teachers.

Eight Persons Burn To Death In Home

Altoona, Pa., April 13 (AP)—Eight persons, five of them children were burned to death in a fire at Hensheytown near here shortly before midnight.

Four of the dead were children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dillon, whose home burned. Mrs. Goldie Hollobaugh Krebmer and her months old baby also perished.

FAIL TO AGREE ON SALARY CUT

Economy Committee Will Decide Today What It Will Do

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Unable to reach an agreement with President Hoover on how to handle the $200,000,000 retrenchment program, the divided house economy committee hopes to decide tomorrow whether it will continue to sponsor a federal salary cutting plan.

Coming from the White House after a three and a half hour conference with the president, the committee members said they had not agreed on the chief executive's proposal to put the program into one consolidated bill. Neither was an agreement reached on any of the points of controversy between the administrative and legislative branches on the program.

$67,000,000 Saving

Chairman McDuffie announced he would ask the committee to decide definitely tomorrow on whether it would authorize him to offer his plan to slash salaries eleven per cent on all above $1,000 in order that it might be attached as a rider to the $20,000,000 legislative supply bill now under consideration. It is expected to save $67,000,000 in 1933.

At the White House it was said President Hoover insisted that it was up to the committee to determine whether it would sponsor the McDuffie plan or the president's proposal to delay action on the salary cuts so that his stagger employment plan may be included in the big omnibus bill. The Hoover program is estimated to save $95,000,000.

Proposes 5-Day Week

Throughout the long meeting, the president held fast to his proposal for a five day week, or thirty day furlough without pay for government employes. Meanwhile, a compromise proposal of Representative Williamson (R. S. D.), a committee member, incorporating features of both the Hoover and McDuffie plans was sidetracked.

Although committee members and Postmaster General Brown, Secretary Mills and Veterans Administrator Hines reported progress, McDuffie said:

"We reached no agreement."

Detroit Payrolls Are In Jeopardy

Detroit, April 13 (AP) City payrolls aggregating $3,900,000, due Friday, were in jeopardy today because of the city council's failure last night to give a 33 1-3 per cent salary cut ordinance the two-thirds majority necessary to make it effective immediately.

Controller G. Hall Roosevelt expected to confer with the council tomorrow.

He said default on the payrolls was in prospect unless the council reconsiders by Friday and passes the salary ordinance with the six votes required to give it immediate effect.

Otherwise, the ordinance will not become effective for 30 days and Roosevelt said the money is not available to meet even one-half the current payrolls.

Mrs. Fortescue Breaks Down in Lynching Trial

BY WILLIAM H. EWING
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Honolulu, April 13 (AP)—The icy reserve of Mrs. Granville Fortescue melted into tears today as the prosecution drew the name of her daughter into the Joseph Kahahawai lynching case and produced evidence that a shot had been heard in or near her home about the time the young Hawaiian was killed.

First the society matron gave way to her emotions when the prosecution hinted that Mrs. Thalie Massie, victim of an asserted attack by Kahahawai and four other men, may have been an accomplice or accessory in the lynching.

Identifies Rope

Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, Albert O. Jones and Edward J. Lord, are charged jointly with Mrs. Fortescue in the slaying.

Again Mrs. Fortescue controlled herself only with difficulty when two neighbors testified they heard a shot in the direction of her home, alleged scene of the killing, at approximately the time the prosecution contends the young Hawaiian was slain.

Forging the final link of its circumstantial story, the prosecution called Cornelius Gibbs, an investigator who testified that the rope which bound Kahahawai's sheeted body could have been obtained only at the Pearl Harbor naval station.

With Gibbs' testimony in the record public Prosecutor John C. Kelley announced his case would be completed in fifteen minutes tomorrow morning.

"We think we've got everything in but we would like to go over it again," Kelley said, smiling.

"We will be ready," Clarence Darrow, veteran leader of the defense, said, and court adourned for the day.

Judge Orders Ham Be Removed From Pontiac Bank Job

Pontiac, Mich., April 13 (AP)—Three Pontiac business men and a bank official were ordered arrested today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, who is conducting a one-man grand jury investigation into the affairs of the Peoples Trust and Savings Bank of Pontiac.

Clifford M. Ham, receiver for the institution, which closed in November, 1931, was ordered removed immediately, and other officials and stockholders were censured severely in the judge's opinion.

The judge in his opinion asked the arrest of A. J. McCrea, a local business man; Bernard H. Bloch, a merchant; Glenn C. Stivers, former real estate dealer, and John C. Peck, an official of the bank. McCrea is charged with forging a contract for $10,000, Bloch with diverting to his own use money collected for the bank, Stivers with having retained money due the bank and Peck with concealing an overdraft of $2,800.

The resignation of Harry F. Eckfeld, assistant to Ham, also directed He is a former vice president and cashier of the bank.

The judge in his findings also severely censured Saul J. Birnkrant, an attorney, and Otto Sachse, former president of the bank, who now is serving a prison term on fraud charges.

RESERVE BOARD OPPOSES BONUS

Proponents of Veterans' Bill to Seek House Vote, However

Washington, April 13 (AP) Advocates of cashing the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus in new currency today agreed upon an effort to force a house vote despite the federal reserve board's emphatic opposition.

This decision was reached by the unofficial congressional committee on the bonus movement after a conference with federal reserve officials. Representative Patman (D., Tex.), one of the group, claimed ample support to secure a house vote through a discharge petition, if necessary, and predicted its passage in both houses.

The reserve system's attitude toward the bonus plan was disclosed by Governor George L. Harrison of the New York reserve bank, in testimony before a house banking subcommittee. Discussing the decision of reserve banks to expand credit through larger purchases of government securities, Harrison said in reply to questions:

"An unbalanced budget or the soldiers bonus would make it impossible to make our program effective."

On another occasion, when asked about raising price levels through new currency paid on the bonus bill probably would do more to defeat what congress has in mind than any other one thing you could do."

Patman said bonus proponents felt the reserve board's new policy of credit expansion by rapid purchase of government securities would not get money into the hands of those needing it and consequently would not increase buying power.

Easy To Convict 'Leggers In State

New York, April 13 (AP) Amos W. W. Woodcock, federal prohibition director, lists New Jersey as the most difficult state in which to enforce the dry law and North Carolina and Michigan as the easiest. He said that 99 out of every 100 liquor cases in western Michigan result in convictions.

216 DELEGATE VOTES SLATED TO ROOSEVELT

the president.

Without including Illinois or South Carolina, Hoover's supporters could count off 336 pledged and claimed delegates.

Small Nominated

In the Illinois primary, former Governor Len Small, Republican, and Judge Henry Horner, Democrat, were assured the nominations for governor with good sized pluralities. It appeared that Small would total about 75,000 votes more than Omer N. Custer, the second candidate in the five-man fight. Horner's plurality over Michael L. Igoe was estimated at 125,000.

The sweeping victory of the state Democratic organization supporting Horner assured Senator Lewis the support of uninstructed Democratic convention delegates, at least on the early ballots. Supporters of Roosevelt have said they could swing most of Illinois' votes after the first ballot.

The Illinois delegation's position in the Republican convention was less clear. The presidential preference vote was meaningless. No designations appeared on the ballots. Most of the delegates did not indicate their preference or platform, but most of them were members of party factions as pro-Hoover.

Only one definite slate was in the field for Republican delegates. It was anti-prohibition and anti-Hoover. Incomplete returns indicated 11 of its 15 members defeated and three of those who were elected also members of the "harmony" faction supposed to favor Hoover.

Nebraska for Roosevelt

Illinois state conventions meet April 22, the Republicans picking 11 additional national delegates and the Democrats eight.

In the Nebraska preference primary, three-fourths of the state's precincts gave Roosevelt a lead of nearly two to one over the combined vote of Garner and Murray. Charles W. Bryan had apparently won the Democratic nomination for governor, but the Republican nomination was still a battle between Dwight Griswold and Kenneth S. Wherry. Griswold was but 1,000 votes ahead with 1,568 out of 2,019 precincts reported.

Conservation Dep't Must Reduce Budget

Lansing, Mich., April 13 (AP) Further reductions in the budget of the state conservation department and curtailment of its activities were predicted today by George R. Hogarth, director.

The forecast was made as members of the state conservation commission gathered with division heads in an attempt to balance the department budget. William H. Loutit, executive chairman of the commission, estimated that reductions may run as high as 25 per cent under present expenditures.

HOUSE SPURNS BRUCKER PLAN

Bill to Provide Employment Commission Suffers Setback

BY SAM B. M'COOL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., April 13 (AP) The administration's special session program met its first setback in the legislature today.

The Armstrong bill recommended by Governor Brucker and providing for a commission to study state employment failed to muster the necessary majority vote for passage in the house. Administration leaders quickly rallied and succeeded in saving the measure for another test tomorrow when twenty-nine members of the house who were absent today attending their local county conventions will return. The bill today mustered forty votes while thirty members voted against it.

The bill would set up a nine-man body to harmonize salaries in the various state departments and go into the feasibility of establishing civil service. Although members would serve without pay, a $10,000 appropriation is provided for the expenses of the commission.

Two amendments were inserted in the measure before it reached a vote. One provided that the clerk of the house or the secretary of the senate act as secretary of the commission, and another would extend the scope of the commission to permit it to recommend elimination of duplications in governmental departments.

The first amendment, sponsored by Rep. V. J. Brown of Mason, brought the principal debate. In support of the revision, Rep. William C. Birk, of Baraga, said he was against the commission's hiring a paid secretary as "I am afraid that R. Wayne Newton will get the job." Newton, former tax expert for the Michigan state farm bureau, is one of the governor's close advisers and has been active on the floor of the legislature during the session.

Famous Composer Of Ballads Dies

New York, April 13 (AP)—Smiling at a broadcast of his latest song, "One Day in May," Robert A. King, a composer of nearly fifty years standing, suffered a heart attack early today and died within a few minutes. He was 69.

Under the name of Mary Earl, King had been writing tuneful melodies since he was a youth in his twenties.

Possibly his greatest success was "Beautiful Ohio Waltz," which sold more than 5,000,000 copies. Others were "Why Did I Kiss That Girl?" "Moonlight on the Colorado," and "Rocky Mountain Lullaby." He finished "One Day in May" only a short time ago and had high hopes for it.

FAIL TO AGREE ON SALARY CUT

Economy Committee Will Decide Today What It Will Do

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Unable to reach an agreement with President Hoover on how to handle the $200,000,000 retrenchment program, the divided house economy committee hopes to decide tomorrow whether it will continue to sponsor a federal salary cutting plan.

Coming from the White House after a three and a half hour conference with the president, the committee members said they had not agreed on the chief executive's proposal to put the program into one consolidated bill. Neither was an agreement reached on any of the points of controversy between the administrative and legislative branches on the program.

$67,000,000 Saving

Chairman McDuffie announced he would ask the committee to decide definitely tomorrow on whether it would authorize him to offer his plan to slash salaries eleven per cent on all above $1,000 in order that it might be attached as a rider to the $20,000,000 legislative supply bill now under consideration. It is expected to save $67,000,000 in 1933.

At the White House it was said President Hoover insisted that it was up to the committee to determine whether it would sponsor the McDuffie plan or the president's proposal to delay action on the salary cuts so that his stagger employment plan may be included in the big omnibus bill. The Hoover program is estimated to save $95,000,000.

Proposes 5-Day Week

Throughout the long meeting, the president held fast to his proposal for a five day week, or thirty day furlough without pay for government employes. Meanwhile, a compromise proposal of Representative Williamson (R. S. D.), a committee member, incorporating features of both the Hoover and McDuffie plans was sidetracked.

Although committee members and Postmaster General Brown, Secretary Mills and Veterans Administrator Hines reported progress, McDuffie said:

"We reached no agreement."

Detroit Payrolls Are In Jeopardy

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—City payrolls aggregating $3,000,000, due Friday, were in jeopardy today because of the city council's failure last night to give a 33 1-3 per cent salary cut ordinance the two-thirds majority necessary to make it effective immediately.

Controller G. Hall Roosevelt expected to confer with the council tomorrow.

He said default on the payrolls was in prospect unless the council reconsiders by Friday and passes the salary ordinance with the six votes required to give it immediate effect.

Otherwise, the ordinance will not become effective for 30 days and Roosevelt said the money is not available to meet even one-half the current payrolls.

Mrs. Fortescue Breaks Down in Lynching Trial

BY WILLIAM H. EWING
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Honolulu, April 13 (AP)—The icy reserve of Mrs. Granville Fortescue melted into tears today as the prosecution drew the name of her daughter into the Joseph Kahahawai lynching case and produced evidence that a shot had been heard in or near her home about the time the young Hawaiian was killed.

First the society matron gave way to her emotions when the prosecution hinted that Mrs. Thalie Massie, victim of an asserted attack by Kahahawai and four other men, may have been an accomplice or accessory in the lynching.

Identifies Rope

Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men, Albert O. Jones and Edward J. Lord, are charged jointly with Mrs. Fortescue in the slaying.

Again Mrs. Fortescue controlled herself only with difficulty when two neighbors testified they heard a shot in the direction of her home, alleged scene of the killing, at approximately the time the prosecution contends the young Hawaiian was slain.

Forging the final link of its circumstantial story, the prosecution called Cornelius Gibbs, an investigator who testified that the rope which bound Kahahawai's sheeted body could have been obtained only at the Pearl Harbor naval station.

With Gibbs' testimony in the record public Prosecutor John C. Kelley announced his case would be completed in fifteen minutes tomorrow morning.

"We think we've got everything in but we would like to go over it again," Kelley said, smiling.

"We will be ready," Clarence Darrow, veteran leader of the defense, said, and court adourned for the day.

Judge Orders Ham Be Removed From Pontiac Bank Job

Pontiac, Mich., April 13. (AP)—Three Pontiac business men and a bank official were ordered arrested today by Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, who is conducting a one-man grand jury investigation into the affairs of the Peoples Trust and Savings Bank of Pontiac.

Clifford M. Ham, receiver for the institution, which closed in November, 1931, was ordered removed immediately, and other officials and stockholders were censured severely in the judge's opinion.

The judge in his opinion asked the arrest of A. J. McCrea, a local business man; Bernard H. Bloch, a merchant; Glenn C. Stivers, former real estate dealer, and John C. Peck, an official of the bank. McCrea is charged with forging a contract for $10,000, Bloch with diverting to his own use money collected for the bank, Stivers with having retained money due the bank and Peck with concealing an overdraft of $2,800.

The resignation of Harry F. Eckfeld, assistant to Ham, also directed. He is a former vice president and cashier of the bank.

The judge in his findings also severely censured Saul J. Birnkrant, an attorney, and Otto Sachse, former president of the bank, who now is serving a prison term on fraud charges.

RESERVE BOARD OPPOSES BONUS

Proponents of Veterans' Bill to Seek House Vote, However

Washington, April 13 (AP)—Advocates of cashing the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus in new currency today agreed upon an effort to force a house vote despite the federal reserve board's emphatic opposition.

This decision was reached by the unofficial congressional committee on the bonus movement after a conference with federal reserve officials. Representative Patman, (D., Tex.), one of the group, claimed ample support to secure a house vote through a discharge petition, if necessary, and predicted its passage in both houses.

The reserve system's attitude toward the bonus plan was disclosed by Governor George L. Harrison of the New York reserve bank, in testimony before a house banking subcommittee. Discussing the decision of reserve banks to expand credit through larger purchases of government securities, Harrison said in reply to questions:

"An unbalanced budget or the soldiers bonus would make it impossible to make our program effective."

On another occasion, when asked about raising price levels through new currency paid on the bonus bill probably would do more to defeat what congress has in mind than any other one thing you could do."

Patman said bonus proponents felt the reserve board's new policy of credit expansion by rapid purchase of government securities would not get money into the hands of those needing it and consequently would not increase buying power.

Easy To Convict 'Leggers In State

New York, April 13 (AP)—Amos W. W. Woodcock, federal prohibition director, lists New Jersey as the most difficult state in which to enforce the dry law and North Carolina and Michigan as the easiest. He said that 99 out of every 100 liquor cases in western Michigan result in convictions.

216 DELEGATE VOTES SLATED TO ROOSEVELT

the president.

Without including Illinois or South Carolina, Hoover's supporters could count off 336 pledged and claimed delegates.

Small Nominated

In the Illinois primary, former Governor Len Small, Republican, and Judge Henry Horner, Democrat, were assured the nominations for governor with good sized pluralities. It appeared that Small would total about 75,000 votes more than Omer N. Custer, the second candidate in the five-man fight. Horner's plurality over Michael L. Igoe was estimated at 125,000.

The sweeping victory of the state Democratic organization supporting Horner assured Senator Lewis the support of uninstructed Democratic convention delegates, at least on the early ballots. Supporters of Roosevelt have said they could swing most of Illinois' votes after the first ballot.

The Illinois delegation's position in the Republican convention was less clear. The presidential preference vote was meaningless. No designations appeared on the ballots. Most of the delegates did not indicate their preference or platform, but most of them were members of party factions as pro-Hoover.

Only one definite slate was in the field for Republican delegates. It was anti-prohibition and anti-Hoover. Incomplete returns indicated 11 of its 15 members defeated and three of those who were elected also members of the "harmony" faction supposed to favor Hoover.

Nebraska for Roosevelt

Illinois state conventions meet April 22, the Republicans picking 11 additional national delegates and the Democrats eight.

In the Nebraska preference primary, three-fourths of the state's precincts gave Roosevelt a lead of nearly two to one over the combined vote of Garner and Murray. Charles W. Bryan had apparently won the Democratic nomination for governor, but the Republican nomination was still a battle between Dwight Griswold and Kenneth S. Wherry. Griswold was but 1,000 votes ahead with 1,568 out of 2,049 precincts reported.

Conservation Dep't Must Reduce Budget

Lansing, Mich., April 13 (AP)—Further renuctions in the budget of the state conservation department and curtailment of its activities were predicted today by George R. Hogarth, director.

The forecast was made as members of the state conservation commission gathered with division heads in an attempt to balance the department budget. William H. Loutit, executive chairman of the commission, estimated that reductions may run as high as 25 per cent under present expenditures.

HOUSE SPURNS BRUCKER PLAN

Bill to Provide Employment Commission Suffers Setback

BY SAM B. M'COOL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Mich., April 13 (AP)—The administration's special session program met its first setback in the legislature today.

The Armstrong bill recommended by Governor Brucker and providing for a commission to study state employment failed to muster the necessary majority vote for passage in the house. Administration leaders quickly rallied and succeeded in saving the measure for another test tomorrow when twenty-nine members of the house who were absent today attending their local county conventions will return. The bill today mustered forty votes while thirty members voted against it.

The bill would set up a nine-man body to harmonize salaries in the various state departments and go into the feasibility of establishing civil service. Although members would serve without pay, a $10,000 appropriation is provided for the expenses of the commission.

Two amendments were inserted in the measure before it reached a vote. One provided that the clerk of the house or the secretary of the senate act as secretary of the commission, and another would extend the scope of the commission to permit it to recommend elimination of duplications in governmental departments.

The first amendment, sponsored by Rep. V. J. Brown of Mason, brought the principal debate. In support of the revision, Rep. William C. Birk, of Baraga, said he was against the commission's hiring a paid secretary as "I am afraid that R. Wayne Newton will get the job." Newton, former tax expert for the Michigan state farm bureau, is one of the governor's close advisers and has been active o nthe floor of the legislature during the session.

Famous Composer Of Ballads Dies

New York, April 13 (AP)—Smiling at a broadcast of his latest song, "One Day in May," Robert A. King, a composer of nearly fifty years standing, suffered a heart attack early today and died within a few minutes. He was 69.

Under the name of Mary Earl, King had been writing tuneful melodies since he was a youth in his twenties.

Possibly his greatest success was "Beautiful Ohio Waltz," which sold more than 5,000,000 copies. Others were "Why Did I Kiss That Girl?" "Moonlight on the Colorado," and "Rocky Mountain Lullaby." He finished "One Day in May" only a short time ago and had high hopes for it.

Drunkenness Cases Decline In Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, April 13 (AP)—Police statistics released today noted a slight falling off in the number of cases arising from alcoholic liquor since the abandonment of prohibition last month.

The figures of the police for the last week of the prohibition regime showed 524 arrests for drunkenness. Under the new liquor laws during the first week of their enforcement 411 persons were arrested for the same offense.

PARTY SELECTS ITS DELEGATES

Big Delta County Group To Attend Rally in Soo Monday

Preparations for coming state and district conventions were made Wednesday morning by Delta county Republicans at their county convention in the Escanaba city hall.

The meeting was called to order by W. H. Needham, chairman of the Delta county Republican committee, and H. J. Rushton was elected temporary chairman, with George E. Harvey as secretary. The chairman appointed C. C. Stephenson and T. E. Strom, tellers, and Judge Judd Yelland administered the constitutional oath of office to the convention officers.

Cut Government Costs

The following committees were appointed by the chair: permanent organization and order of business, J. P. Bushong, C. J. Burns, Emmett Meecham; resolutions, Judd Yelland, J. P. Norton, Edgar Anderson; committee to nominate delegates, G. W. Jackson, Frank J. Hess, H. D. Brackett.

The following resolution was adopted, after being presented by the resolutions committee:

WHEREAS, the annually increasing cost of local, state and national government has placed an unbearable burden upon taxable property of every class and

WHEREAS, privately owned business of every description, in the present world emergency, has been forced to economize in every possible manner in order that business may survive, and

WHEREAS, thousands of our citizens are undergoing privation through state of unemployment which must continue until a solution to our monumental economic problems has been achieved, be it

RESOLVED by the Republicans of Delta county, in convention assembled, that we most earnestly urge that governmental costs be reduced by the application to government, of every division, of the same sound economic principles to which general business has been forced to resort, by the abolition of useless, but tax consuming boards and commissions, and by the elimination of every possible kind of paternalistic service, fostered and monumentally increased in the days of our national affluence,

RESOLVED, that this convention heartily commends the action of our state and national administrations in their present efforts to reduce governmental costs and we further earnestly urge that such reductions be carried out, without reference to political advantage or influence and with the single purpose of serving the best interests of all the people.

PARTY SELECTS ITS DELEGATES

Big Delta County Group To Attend Rally in Soo Monday

Preparations for coming state and district conventions were made Wednesday morning by Delta county Republicans at their county convention in the Escanaba city hall.

The meeting was called to order by W. H. Needham, chairman of the Delta county Republican committee, and H. J. Rushton was elected temporary chairman, with George E. Harvey as secretary. The chairman appointed C. C. Stephenson and T. E. Strom, tellers, and Judge Judd Yelland administered the constitutional oath of office to the convention officers.

Cut Government Costs

The following committees were appointed by the chair: permanent organization and order of business, J. P. Bushong, C. J. Burns, Emmett Meeham; resolutions, Judd Yelland, J. P. Norton, Edgar Anderson; committee to nominate delegates, G. W. Jackson, Frank J. Hess, H. D. Brackett.

The following resolution was adopted, after being presented by the resolutions committee:

WHEREAS, the annually increasing cost of local, state and national government has placed an unbearable burden upon taxable property of every class and

WHEREAS, privately owned business of every description, in the present world emergency, has been forced to economize in every possible manner in order that business may survive, and

WHEREAS, thousands of our citizens are undergoing privation through state of unemployment which must continue until a solution to our monumental economic problems has been achieved, be it

RESOLVED by the Republicans of Delta county, in convention assembled, that we most earnestly urge that governmental costs be reduced by the application to government, of every division, of the same sound economic principles to which general business has been forced to resort, by the abolition of useless, but tax consuming boards and commissions, and by the elimination of every possible kind of paternalistic service, fostered and monumentally increased in the days of our national affluence,

RESOLVED, that this convention heartily commends the action of our state and national administrations in their present efforts to reduce governmental costs and we further earnestly urge that such reductions be carried out, without reference to political advantage or influence and with the single purpose of serving the best interests of all the people.

Delegates and alternates for the state Republican convention at Grand Rapids, April 27, were chosen as reported by the nominating committee. The lists includes:

Delegates—H. J. Rushton, J. P. Norton, W. H. Needham, H. D. Brackett, George E. Harvey, C. C. Stephenson, J. P. Cameron, C. A. Clark, J. P. Bushong, C. J. Burns, Dr. J. J. Walch, F. J. Hess.

All Republicans were urged yesterday to make a special effort to be present at the rally in the Soo.

IT'S ISLE ROYALE

AT LAST, the argument over the official spelling of Isle Royale, that historic and scenic body of land in Lake Superior which is scheduled to be the next addition to the national park system, has been settled.

Newspapers and individuals have been debating for several weeks the question as to whether "Royale" should be spelled with "e." A statement made by A. A. Webster of Detroit, member of the Isle Royale Protective Association, gives the information now that the United States Geographic Board has decreed that the "e" should be retained. Mr. Webster's statement, in part, is as follows:

"Nearly a year ago when some members of our association took the preliminary steps toward having the final "e" retained, the map makers claimed that they could not go behind the rulings of the United States Geographic Board which had decreed the correct spelling to be "Isle Royal." Not being satisfied, however, to allow the change from the French spelling to remain in vogue, the matter was followed through the necessary channels of county, state and national action with the result that on Jan. 29, 1932 the state committee on geographic names approved the change and forwarded their conclusions to the United States Geographic Board which on Feb. 3, 1932 confirmed the action by their own approval, thus making the officially correct spelling to be "Isle Royale." The official ruling has been passed on to map makers and others interested parties."

The official spelling of Isle Royale retaining the "e" was adopted by the Keweenaw county board of supervisors in a resolution adopted Dec. 8, 1931

THAT'S SERVICE

ALL the powers of man and machinery prove of no avail when the forces of nature start breaking up the macadam and gravel roads, but the state highway department is doing much to relieve the discomfort of the motorist who is obliged to travel during this season of the year.

Tractors and teams of horses are furnished and paid by the state to pull automobiles over the bad sections of the road that have been broken up by the frost leaving the ground. It's a real service that is not to be found in some other states.

How many times have you heard motorists tell about being forced to pay an exorbitant price to have some team pull them out of the mud? Instances are known where these traffic traps have been man-made as a means of mulcting the automobile traveler.

In Canada the habit of showing courtesy to the automobile tourist has been developed to a high degree. Canadians go out of their way to help motorists in distress, and if you offer to pay them for their service they act as if they have been insulted. They know that courtesy pays.

GOOD WORK!

THERE have been so many graduates of Escanaba's public and parochial schools who have gone out into the world to be numbered among the local boys and girls making good, that we beg indulgence of our readers in commenting on the achievements of a particular individual.

But the many friends and admirers of Edward O. Curran, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Curran, were pleased to read the announcement in this newspaper a few days ago of his appointment as research assistant at the University of Michigan, and the Press feels that it was a well merited honor.

Edward Curran quit high school back about ten years ago to go to work for the Chicago and North Western railway, but later decided it would be a good idea to go back and get more education.

When he returned, he tackled his studies with the determination to succeed, and that he accomplished his aims was proven by the fact that he received both the Herman Gessner trophy and the University of Michigan scholarship award.

Then, he enrolled at the University of Michigan with intentions of following the profession of law, which course he will complete in June. He has worked hard, and is deserving of recognition. The honor conferred upon him recently will not be the last, however, for a young man with the ambition and energy he possesses is bound to climb higher.

SIGN YOUR NAME

THE Daily Press has received a number of anonymous communications, which it has not published because of a long-established policy, discussed in these columns on several previous occasions.

This newspaper is pleased to receive expressions of opinion on various public questions from its readers, believing that many worth-while ideas and new angles of problems can be brought to light in this manner. For obvious reasons, the Press must insist that the communications must be signed by the authors, although the names will not be published if so desired.

In every case, however, the Press as a matter of self-protection wants to know the authorship of such communications. The Press also reserves the right to discard communications, which are written for the purpose of obtaining some free advertising which we feel should be paid for. Writings on controversial religious subjects, which might breed intolerance and dissension within a community, are also taboo.

But real, constructive suggestions are always welcome.

A GRAND OLD MAN

AT A time in life when other men are preoccupied with the business of winding up their earthly affairs, Paul von Hindenburg is entering into another seven-year term of one of the hardest jobs in the world.

The re-elected president of Germany has been a symbol for his countrymen for 18 years. First after the battle of Tannenberg, he was a symbol of Germany victorious. Later, after the republic, he was the symbol of the old regime. He was nominated in 1925, at the instance of shrewd old Von Tirpitz, as the hope of the reactionary nationalist party, the party which plotted for the return of the Hohenzollerns.

Seven years later all that is changed. Hindenburg is still a symbol, but the symbol's meaning has changed again. He is now a symbol of hope for the millions who have cast their lot with the new order of things. The old general, who rallied the nationalists to victory in 1925, has now the solid support of the German socialists. They look upon him as the champion of the brand of socialism which has in the last decade hoisted the burden of more than half of German industry upon the state and made the state, in consequence, responsible for the economic as well as the political welfare of the people.

President von Hindenburg has not been inconsistent. Throughout the era of political changing and terrific economic upheavals he has remained true to his country. He is not a party man; he is a German. The nationalists can not say he betrayed them, nor can the socialists claim him as their own. He has a single purpose, a single policy—to save the foundering fatherland. He is a grand old man.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Man Hunters

CHAPTER XIII

AUNT JESSIE was going away. It was astonishing but true. Her sister who lived in a little town in southern Illinois had undergone a rather serious operation and was convalescing. She wanted Aunt Jessie to come.

"I declare, it doesn't seem right!" Aunt Jessie kept saying over and over. "It seems a pity you couldn't go and stay with the Miltons instead of having Rose come over here. But what with those cousins of theirs visiting from Des Moines I suppose we can't help it." She sighed again, frowning, folded her best Philippine nightgown and wrapped her bedroom slippers in tissue paper.

"I don't see why you make such a fuss," Susan said capably, trying to help and not succeeding very well. "You always say yourself that Rose is so sensible, and after all you won't be gone more than two weeks."

Aunt Jessie kept grumbling that it didn't seem right and she declared she was at her wits' end. But she went nevertheless. This was on a Sunday morning. After Susan had seen her aunt off at the dismal old station she came back to a house strangely empty and quiet. She walked through the prim, familiar rooms with the sensation of seeing them for the first time and when Rose came over to join her at a lazy, two o'clock dinner the kitchen rang with the sudden, foolish, irresistible laughter of two young things set free.

They used the best embroidered tablecloth and the thin cups which Susan's great-grandmother had brought out with her from "York State." Aunt Jessie would have been scandalized at the idea of this casual employment of her dearest treasures. The tablecloth and china were generally reserved for weddings and funerals but since Susan saw no chance of the one and hope there might be none for the other she made the most of this golden moment.

It was fun even to wash dishes with Rose. Susan hung, weak with laughter, over a kitchen chair as her friend described with embellishments the peculiarities of the head of her department.

"Stop! Please don't tell me any more!" Susan begged, wiping her eyes. Naturally Rose, delighted at this tribute to her powers as a mimic, continued the performance. As Susan rinsed out the last clean dish towel she glanced with astonishment at the clock.

"It can't be half past three!" she said, appalled. They discussed the relative merits of a walk to the park or a trolley ride to one of the beaches, but somehow reached no decision. They dawdled out to the back porch, where, in a delicious confusion of Sunday newspapers, cracking taffy wrappers, and the shouts of the children next door, they idled away the afternoon.

THAT was the beginning of Susan's real holiday. Of course she would have no actual vacation this year since she had only started to work, but it was enough for her at the moment to feel the exquisite importance of being mistress of her own domain.

There came, however, the inevitable day when Rose, always popular and in demand, telephoned that she could not get home for dinner.

"I see. Of course you must go. Have a good time and don't be too late. No, I won't leave the door open. You ring twice and I'll hear you." Susan's tone sounded cheerful but she hung up the receiver with a sense of dismay. The long summer evening stretched out emptily before her.

She stood up to find Jack Waring twinkling at her.

"What's the matter? Somebody stand you up?" he bantered. Susan shook her head.

"The girl who's staying with me while my aunt is away has a date," she explained, hoping her voice didn't sound as forlorn as she felt. The man smiled.

"Come along with me," he said casually. "Some friends of mine are driving out to a place on the Milwaukee Road where they have grand music. I'll take good care of you and get you home early."

Susan hesitated. There was no denying it, the prospect was alluring. In addition, the man's tone and manner were so quietly reassuring, so nearly paternal that she felt rather silly as she demurred.

"Nonsense," Waring said briskly. "You just say 'no' as a matter of form without thinking. I can see that."

His conjecture was so close to the truth that Susan flushed. After all, wasn't it foolish of her to go home alone, eat an uninteresting and solitary supper and moon about waiting for Rose to return, when friendship, gaiety, music and laughter were hers for the stretching out of her hand? Irrationally she wondered if this had been the way Eve felt about the serpent. Then she smiled and shrugged because the metaphor was so far-fetched. Jack Waring in his conservative dark suit, perfectly groomed and agreeably friendly, was as little like a serpent as anyone could possibly imagine. She was seized with an uncontrollable impulse. "I'll go," she said. "I'd love to."

He was so businesslike about it all, putting her address down in his small notebook, that Susan banished as idiotic the suspicion that for an instant there had been a flash of triumph in his eyes. He was to call for her at seven. Much as she disliked the idea of the neighbors peering at his long, blue roadster with its shattering horn she insisted on this. For one thing she remembered Aunt Jessie's dictum, "If a man can't call for a girl at her home then I say there's something wrong. These fly-by-nights who meet boys on street corners will come to no good." It was curious that Susan should think of this and be so insistent about it, because she had heard Aunt Jessie say it so many times and it had always irritated her.

SHE rushed homeward, impatient of the many delays. The westbound trolley seemed unusually slow and jerky. The conductor dropped the token she handed him, passengers fumbled their transfers, and at every crossing there were maddening waits.

Why she was so excited at the prospect of an evening with Waring Susan could not have exactly said. Perhaps it was his reputation as a lady's man, gleaned from hints dropped by Pierson. Perhaps it was the memory of the dozen and one daily telephone calls which he received. Most of the voices, were provocatively feminine. Susan could not help hearing Waring's part in some of these conversations. He called all of them "darling." She knew that and was a little contemptuous of it, believing in her young arrogance (and who shall say not rightly?) that the charming English term of endearment should be reserved for the chosen one instead of scattered to the crowd. But ever since the day when the man had shown such sympathetic understanding of her position the day Mrs. Heath had so unmercifully snubbed her Susan had come to take a more charitable view of him. After all, she argued, men couldn't all be alike. She began to feel that she had misunderstood Waring. Pierson said Jack's wife had given him "a dirty deal." Maybe that was true.

It was at this stage in her reflections that the car, jerking, wheezing, and groaning, reached her corner and she was glad to alight, finding the air under the locust trees of her own block much more agreeable than that of the trolley.

In her own room, she wriggled out of her clothes and ran the tub almost to the brim. She was glad Rose had given her those geran-

IT'S ISLE ROYALE

AT LAST, the argument over the official spelling of Isle Royale, that historic and scenic body of land in Lake Superior which is scheduled to be the next addition to the national park system, has been settled.

Newspapers and individuals have been debating for several weeks the question as to whether "Royale" should be spelled with "e." A statement made by A. A. Webster of Detroit, member of the Isle Royale Protective Association, gives the information now that the United States Geographic Board has decreed that the "e" should be retained. Mr. Webster's statement, in part, is as follows:

"Nearly a year ago when some members of our association took the preliminary steps toward having the final "e" retained, the map makers claimed that they could not go behind the rulings of the United States Geographic Board which had decreed the correct spelling to be "Isle Royal." Not being satisfied, however, to allow the change from the French spelling to remain in vogue, the matter was followed through the necessary channels of county, state and national action with the result that on Jan. 29, 1932 the state committee on geographic names approved the change and forwarded their conclusions to the United States Geographic Board which on Feb. 3, 1932 confirmed the action by their own approval, thus making the officially correct spelling to be "Isle Royale." The official ruling has been passed on to map makers and others interested parties."

The official spelling of Isle Royale retaining the "e" was adopted by the Keweenaw county board of supervisors in a resolution adopted Dec. 8, 1931.

THAT'S SERVICE

ALL the powers of man and machinery prove of no avail when the forces of nature start breaking up the macadam and gravel roads, but the state highway department is doing much to relieve the discomfort of the motorist who is obliged to travel during this season of the year.

Tractors and teams of horses are furnished and paid by the state to pull automobiles over the bad sections of the road that have been broken up by the frost leaving the ground. It's a real service that is not to be found in some other states.

How many times have you heard motorists tell about being forced to pay an exorbitant price to have some team pull them out of the mud? Instances are known where these traffic traps have been man-made as a means of muleting the automobile traveler.

In Canada, the habit of showing courtesy to the automobile tourist has been developed to a high degree. Canadians go out of their way to help motorists in distress, and if you offer to pay them for their service they act as if they have been insulted. They know that courtesy pays.

GOOD WORK!

THERE have been so many graduates of Escanaba's public and parochial schools, who have gone out into the world to be numbered among the "local boys and girls making good," that we beg indulgence of our readers in commenting on the achievements of a particular individual.

But the many friends and admirers of Edward O. Curran, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Curran, were pleased to read the announcement in this newspaper a few days ago of his appointment as research assistant at the University of Michigan, and the Press feels that it was a well merited honor.

Edward Curran quit high school back about ten years ago to go to work for the Chicago and North Western railway, but later decided it would be a good idea to go back and get more education.

When he returned, he tackled his studies with the determination to succeed, and that he accomplished his aims was proven by the fact that he received both the Herman Gessner trophy and the University of Michigan scholarship award.

Then, he enrolled at the University of Michigan with intentions of following the profession of law, which course he will complete in June. He has worked hard, and is deserving of recognition. The honor conferred upon him recently will not be the last, however, for a young man with the ambition and energy he possesses is bound to climb higher.

SIGN YOUR NAME

THE Daily Press has received a number of anonymous communications, which it has not published because of a long-established policy, discussed in these columns on several previous occasions.

This newspaper is pleased to receive expressions of opinion on various public questions from its readers, believing that many worth-while ideas and new angles of problems can be brought to light in this manner. For obvious reasons, the Press must insist that the communications must be signed by the authors, although the names will not be published if so desired.

In every case, however, the Press as a matter of self-protection wants to know the authorship of such communications. The Press also reserves the right to discard communications, which are written for the purpose of obtaining some free advertising, which we feel should be paid for. Writings on controversial religious subjects, which might breed intolerance and dissension within a community, are also taboo.

But real, constructive suggestions are always welcome.

A GRAND OLD MAN

AT A time in life when other men are preoccupied with the business of winding up their earthly affairs, Paul von Hindenburg is entering into another seven-year term of one of the hardest jobs, in the world.

The re-elected president of Germany has been a symbol for his countrymen for 18 years. First, after the battle of Tannenberg, he was a symbol of Germany victorious. Later, after the republic, he was the symbol of the old regime. He was nominated in 1925, at the instance of shrewd old Von Tirpitz, as the hope of the reactionary nationalist party, the party which plotted for the return of the Hohenzollerns.

Seven years later all that is changed. Hindenburg is still a symbol, but the symbol's meaning has changed again. He is now a symbol of hope for the millions who have cast their lot with the new order of things. The old general, who rallied the nationalists to victory in 1925, has now the solid support of the German socialists. They look upon him as the champion of the brand of socialism which has, in the last decade, hoisted the burden of more than half of German industry upon the state and made the state, in consequence, responsible for the economic as well as the political welfare of the people.

President von Hindenburg has not been inconsistent. Throughout the era of political changing and terrific economic upheavals he has remained steadfast to his country. He is not a party man; he is a German. The nationalists can not say he betrayed them; nor can the socialists claim him as their own. He has a single purpose, a single policy—to save the foundering fatherland. He is a grand old man.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The price of snakes has doubled. Liquor must be getting better.

CHAPTER XIII

AUNT JESSIE was going away. It was astonishing but true. Her sister who lived in a little town in southern Illinois had undergone a rather serious operation and was convalescing. She wanted Aunt Jessie to come.

"I declare, it doesn't seem right!" Aunt Jessie kept saying over and over. "It seems a pity you couldn't go and stay with the Miltons instead of having Rose come over here. But what with those cousins of theirs visiting from Des Moines I suppose we can't help it." She sighed again, frowning, folded her best Philippine nightgown and wrapped her bedroom slippers in tissue paper.

"I don't see why you make such a fuss," Susan said capably, trying to help and not suceeding very well. "You always say yourself that Rose is so sensible, and after all you won't be gone more than two weeks."

Aunt Jessie kept grumbling that it didn't seem right and she declared she was at her wits' end. But she went nevertheless. This was on a Sunday morning. After Susan had seen her aunt off at the dismal old station she came back to a house strangely empty and quiet. She walked through the prim, familiar rooms with the sensation of seeing them for the first time and when Rose came over to join her at a lazy, two o'clock dinner the kitchen rang with the sudden, foolish, irresistible laughter of two young things set free.

They used the best embroidered tablecloth and the thin cups which Susan's great-grandmother had brought out with her from "York State." Aunt Jessie would have been scandalized at the idea of this casual employment of her dearest treasures. The tablecloth and china were generally reserved for weddings and funerals but since Susan saw no chance of the one and hope there might be none for the other she made the most of this golden moment.

It was fun even to wash dishes with Rose. Susan hung, weak with laughter, over a kitchen chair as her friend described with embellishments the peculiarities of the head of her department.

"Stop! Please don't tell me any more!" Susan begged, wiping her eyes. Naturally Rose, delighted at this tribute to her powers as a mimic, continued the performance. As Susan rinsed out the last clean dish towel she glanced with astonishment at the clock.

"It can't be half past three!" she said, appalled. They discussed the relative merits of a walk to the park or a trolley ride to one of the beaches, but somehow reached no decision. They dawdled out to the back porch, where, in a delicious confusion of Sunday newspapers, cracking taffy wrappers, and the shouts of the children next door, they idled away the afternoon.

THAT was the beginning of Susan's real holiday. Of course she would have no actual vacation this year since she had only started to work, but it was enough for her at the moment to feel the exquisite importance of being mistress of her own domain.

There came, however, the inevitable day when Rose, always popular and in demand, telephoned that she could not get home for dinner.

"I see. Of course you must go. Have a good time and don't be too late. No, I won't leave the door open. You ring twice and I'll hear you." Susan's tone sounded cheerful but she hung up the receiver with a sense of dismay. The long summer evening stretched out emptily before her.

She stood up to find Jack Waring twinkling at her.

"What's the matter? Somebody stand you up?" he bantered. Susan shook her head.

"The girl who's staying with me while my aunt is away has a date," she explained, hoping her voice didn't sound as forlorn as she felt. The man smiled.

"Come along with me," he said casually. "Some friends of mine are driving out to a place on the Milwaukee Road where they have grand music. I'll take good care of you and get you home early."

Susan hesitated. There was no denying it, the prospect was alluring. In addition, the man's tone and manner were so quietly reassuring, so nearly paternal that she felt rather silly as she demurred.

"Nonsense," Waring said briskly. "You just say 'no' as a matter of form without thinking. I can see that."

His conjecture was so close to the truth that Susan flushed. After all, wasn't it foolish of her to go home alone, eat an uninteresting and solitary supper and moon about waiting for Rose to return, when friendship, gaiety, music and laughter were hers for the stretching out of her hand? Irrationally she wondered if this had been the way Eve felt about the serpent. Then she smiled and shrugged because the metaphor was so far-fetched. Jack Waring in his conservative dark suit, perfectly groomed and agreeably friendly, was as little like a serpent as anyone could possibly imagine. She was seized with an uncontrollable impulse. "I'll go," she said. "I'd love to."

He was so businesslike about it all, putting her address down in his small notebook, that Susan banished as idiotic the suspicion that for an instant there had been a flash of triumph in his eyes. He was to call for her at seven. Much as she disliked the idea of the neighbors peering at his long, blue roadster with its shattering horn she insisted on this. For one thing she remembered Aunt Jessie's dictum. "If a man can't call for a girl at her home then I say there's something wrong. These fly-by-nights who meet boys on street corners will come to no good." It was curious that Susan should think of this and be so insistent about it, because she had heard Aunt Jessie say it so many times and it had always irritated her.

SHE rushed homeward, impatient of the many delays. The westbound trolley seemed unusually slow and jerky. The conductor dropped the token she handed him, passengers fumbled their transfers, and at every crosstown line there were maddening waits.

Why she was so excited at the prospect of an evening with Waring, Susan could not have exactly said. Perhaps it was his reputation as a lady's man, gleamed from hints dropped by Pierson. Perhaps it was the memory of the dozen and one daily telephone calls which he received. Most of the voices, were provocatively feminine. Susan could not help hearing Waring's part in some of these conversations. He called all of them "darling." She knew that and was a little contemptuous of it, believing in her young arrogance (and who shall say not rightly?) that the charming English term of endearment should be reserved for the chosen one instead of scattered to the crowd. But ever since the day when the man had shown such sympathetic understanding of her position—the day Mrs. Heath had so unmercifully snubbed her—Susan had come to take a more charitable view of him. After all, she argued, men couldn't all be alike. She began to feel that she had misunderstood Waring. Pierson said Jack's wife had given him "a dirty deal." Maybe that was true.

It was at this stage in her reflections that the car, jerking, wheezing, and groaning, reached her corner and she was glad to alight, finding the air under the locust trees of her own block much more agreeable than that of the trolley.

In her own room, she wriggled out of her clothes and ran the tub almost to the brim. She was glad Rose had given her those geran-

SUGGESTIONS FOR WORK

Escanaba, Mich.,
April 12, 1932.

The Escanaba Daily Press,
Escanaba, Mich.

Why not induce Mr. Ford or another generous industrialist to establish a plant in this locality, in order to duplicate the gardening project on Escanaba River, for the benefit of our unemployed?

We read the remark about Escanaba already being "on the map"—it did not state whether this was established through politics or industries, but in all probability it was the amalgamation of both.

The mainstay of life for the unemployed and his family is bread, butter and milk. None of these are produced in the city. You can't raise wheat in your vegetable plot and the city charter prohibits "milking within the incorporate limits."

Consequently the unemployed needs money to buy food stuffs, this he may derive from various sources, but we will take for granted the most satisfactory means is by some profitable occupation (some people try to make a living by investing money in the stock market).

Why constantly pick on the farmer. It appears he has enough difficulties trying to produce eggs and milk at a cost materially higher than he receives for these products—are we to shut off another channel of his income by raising "vegetables" in our manufacturing center? In this case "it won't be long now" before all that remains for the farmer is to "raise hell."

Created work for Escanaba's unemployed will be at an end in the near future: not if we look around for substantial construction jobs. The great "white way" of our city is in sore needs of resurfacing. Another thoroughfare in the lake shore district should be improved to facilitate two-way traffic without hazards to the motoring public. Both projects would be financed on approximately a fifty-fifty basis between the city and our property owners adjoining these traffic lanes.

The replace the "concrete-mixing platform now located in one of our public parks we should construct a suitable "band stand" as the present structure suggests very little of our public pride—especially when we consider that this park adjoins one of the main tourist lanes through the city.

These are only a few suggestions and we hope some other citizen will find many more.

Yours for success in alleviating unemployment,

G. H. LARSON,
1110 North 18th St.

County Road Crews Repairing Highways

Delta County road commission crews were enabled this week to start repair work on roads damaged by the spring breakup. Previously, most of the side roads were in such soft condition that it was impractical to work on them, and in some cases county road trucks could not get to them.

Colder weather this week helped to stiffen up muddy highways, and they were rough but not impassible. Cars yesterday were getting through on their own power at the Powers construction detour, which has been delaying traffic for several days.

Macadam roads were damaged by the breakup, and rough spots are reported on US-2 on the east side of the county.

County road crews are being increased slightly as spring highway operations get under way.

Session of County Board Set for 20th

An organization meeting of the Delta county board of supervisors is scheduled for April 20 at the court house.

Three new board members will come from the townships as a result of spring elections. Noble Kee jr. of Gladstone succeeds A. T. Rossow in Brampton township, Sanford Harrod succeeds Fred Holmes in Cornell township, and Harry Hall of Rock replaces August Larson in Maple Ridge township.

The Gladstone city supervisors remain the same, but new members will be appointed tonight by the Escanaba city council, and three new Escanaba councilmen elected April 4 will be members of the county board.

Local Schools To Enter Extempore Contest In May

The upper peninsula Extempore speaking contest will be held at Iron Mountain on May 13. Schools which are entered in the contest this year are Iron Mountain, Escanaba, St. Joseph's of Escanaba, Stambaugh, and Marinesco high schools.

In extempore speaking, the contestants are assigned subjects and allotted a short time for preparation before the talks are presented. Subjects for the contest will be taken from a designated list of articles which have appeared in recent magazines.

SUGGESTIONS FOR WORK

Escanaba, Mich.,
April 12, 1932.

The Escanaba Daily Press,
Escanaba, Mich.

Why not induce Mr. Ford or another generous industrialist to establish a plant in this locality, in order to duplicate the gardening project on Escanaba River, for the benefit of our unemployed?

We read the remark about Escanaba already being "on the map"—it did not state whether this was established through politics or industries, but in all probability it was the amalgamation of both.

The mainstay of life for the unemployed and his family is bread, butter and milk. None of these are produced in the city. You can't raise wheat in your vegetable plot and the city charter prohibits "milking within the incorporate limits."

Consequently the unemployed needs money to buy food stuffs, this he may derive from various sources, but we will take for granted the most satisfactory means is by some profitable occupation (some people try to make a living by investing money in the stock market).

Why constantly pick on the farmer. It appears he has enough difficulties trying to produce eggs and milk at a cost materially higher than he receives for these products—are we to shut off another channel of his income by raising "vegetables" in our manufacturing center? In this case "it won't be long now" before all that remains for the farmer is to "raise hell."

Created work for Escanaba's unemployed will be at an end in the near future: not if we look around for substantial construction jobs. The great "white way" of our city is in sore needs of resurfacing. Another thoroughfare in the lake shore district should be improved to facilitate two-way traffic without hazards to the motoring public. Both projects would be financed on approximately a fifty-fifty basis between the city and our property owners adjoining these traffic lanes.

The replace the "concrete-mixing platform now located in one of our public parks we should construct a suitable "band stand" as the present structure suggests very little of our public pride—especially when we consider that this park adjoins one of the main tourist lanes through the city.

These are only a few suggestions and we hope some other citizen will find many more.

Yours for success in alleviating unemployment,

G. H. LARSON,
1110 North 18th St.

County Road Crews Repairing Highways

Delta County road commission crews were enabled this week to start repair work on roads damaged by the spring breakup. Previously, most of the side roads were in such soft condition that it was impractical to work on them, and in some cases county road trucks could not get to them.

Colder weather this week helped to stiffen up muddy highways, and they were rough but not impassible. Cars yesterday were getting through on their own power at the Powers construction detour, which has been delaying traffic for several days.

Macadam roads were damaged by the breakup, and rough spots are reported on US-2 on the east side of the county.

County road crews are being increased slightly as spring highway operations get under way.

Session of County Board Set for 20th

An organization meeting of the Delta county board of supervisors is scheduled for April 20 at the court house.

Three new board members will come from the townships as a result of spring elections. Noble Kee jr. of Gladstone succeeds A. T. Rossow in Brampton township, Sanford Harrod succeeds Fred Holmes in Cornell township, and Harry Hall of Rock replaces August Larson in Maple Ridge township.

The Gladstone city supervisors remain the same, but new members will be appointed tonight by the Escanaba city council, and three new Escanaba councilmen elected April 4 will be members of the county board.

Local Schools To Enter Extempore Contest In May

The upper peninsula Extempore speaking contest will be held at Iron Mountain on May 13. Schools which are entered in the contest this year are Iron Mountain, Escanaba, St. Joseph's of Escanaba, Stambaugh, and Marinesco high schools.

In extempore speaking, the contestants are assigned subjects and allotted a short time for preparation before the talks are presented. Subjects for the contest will be taken from a designated list of articles which have appeared in recent magazines.

Art Exhibit at High School on Friday Evening

One of the most interesting and varied exhibits arranged in some time, the annual art exhibit of the Escanaba Junior and Senior high schools, under the direction of Miss Lois Gaut, art supervisor, will attract hundreds of visitors to the Escanaba Junior high school Friday evening.

The exhibit will be on display in the upper foyer of the auditorium. Patrons of the senior class play, "Honor Bright," which is being presented Friday evening, may view the exhibit either before or after the performance.

The work of the elective classes, ninth through the twelfth grade, includes in one interesting group, stage plans. There are stage plans, theatre curtain borders, stage settings and costume designs and with them masks, fashioned of clay with papier mache worked over the clay.

Book jackets are of geometrical or border designs.

One display is of spatter work, very unusual, worked with screen stencils and a tooth brush. Charcoal sketches are from real models and grouped with them are pencil drawings of members of last year's class. Press crayon work in lovely coloring is used in wall hanging designs and linoleum block work used for stenciling pillows is another interesting group.

Block printing on pillows and bridge sets and the exquisite but difficult batik work forms another display, with rattan baskets, skillfully woven and stained, and raffia baskets in which designs are worked in colors.

Eighth grade work includes charcoal sketches, color charts and drawings of children of different countries copied from paintings sent the school by Mrs. A. M. Upjohn, each pupil selecting a painting of a child of his own nationality.

Other displays in this section include border designs, color study, Christmas cards from block prints, paper cutting work, nature drawings from models, perspective work, book binding and the entertaining add-a-line surface designs.

Soap carving and clay work are displayed in cases in the corridors.

Theatres

"Shopworn," the Columbia picture showing today at the Delft Theatre, stars Barbara Stanwyck in the role of a girl who had a price tag put on her soul, with Regis Toomey, ZaSu Pitts, Lucien Littlefield, Clara Blandick, Oscar Apfel, Robert Alden and others in prominent roles.

Nicholas Grinde directed "Shopworn" from an original story by Sarah Y. Mason, with dialogue by Jo Swerling and Robert Riskin. It is said to present a glamorous role for the emotional talents of Miss Stanwyck. She is first seen as a young girl of lowly surroundings but high ideals. In spite of the fact that everyone suspected she wasn't as good as she should be because she was too pretty and too popular, Kitty Lane bestowed favors to no one.

Then, when she fell headlong in love with a young medical student who was tightly tied to the apron strings of a selfish and hypochondriac mother, she found that a price had been put on her—she was cheap in their eyes, but they found they could not buy her.

Favorite Recipe
Betty Ann

Gladstone Reader has another recipe for the Betty Ann department, a recipe for doughnuts in answer to a request sent in by a reader a short time ago.

Doughnuts

One cup brown sugar.
Two cups sour or buttermilk.
One egg.
Two tablespoons melted lard.
One-half teaspoon nutmeg.
One-half teaspoon salt.
One teaspoon soda, dissolved in one cup of the milk.

Mix sugar, shortening and egg with beater. Add one cup of milk and two cups of flour with one teaspoon baking powder and the salt sifted in it. Mix smooth, then add the second cup of milk with soda in it and enough flour to make as soft a dough as can be handled.

Gladstone Reader.

A Betty Ann reader requests a recipe for fried cakes made with sweet milk, to replace one which she had and lost. Will you call the Betty Ann department, 693, if you have this recipe? Or write it out and send it to the Press office, care of Betty Ann?

"Tongues of Men" Is Subject of Splendid Talk

One of the most thoroughly enjoyable and entertaining addresses of the year's program of the Escanaba Woman's club was the lecture given Wednesday afternoon at the regular club meeting in the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school, by John H. Muyskens, assistant professor of Phonetics, University of Michigan.

Professor Muyskens selected as his topic for Wednesday afternoon's address, "Tongues of Men."

Opening his address, he described people as of two classes, those conserving things of the past and those intent on making the past subservient to a larger and nobler future. The purpose of today's research is to make practical the discoveries of the laboratory.

"The pen has been described as mightier than the sword," he said, "but the spoken word is even mightier."

"Four kinds of definitions for language," he continued, "include, first, the element of superstition, second, that of description, third, the element of empiricism, and fourth, that of sounds, interpretation, in short, objective knowledge."

Elaborating upon this he spoke of the first thoughts of literature which were superstitions, such as the early Greek literature which deals with the Gods of Olympus and the similar themes in Latin and in the Sanskrit; then of the next step in literature in which the gods did not come down to live with men but sent their representatives, whose exploits color literature of that period; then of the change which comes when men begin to laugh with Boccaccio at kings, leading to idealization of common man, and finally to today's new values which are presenting themselves in the so-called "debunking" literature and biographies in which phase objective knowledge plays its part.

Four Phases

The same four phases may be traced in the study of sciences he declared.

"In the history of languages, we find these steps," he continued. "Language was first considered to be the gift of God. Adam and Eve had to converse so were handed a ready-made language. Then the influence of sin came and we have the Tower of Babel story to account for all the multiplicity of language."

The next step in studying language, he said, was to attack it from the grammatical side, then the study of [illegible] Grimm sponsored it from the point of view of content, with its conclusions concerning the evolution of races and their relation. "With a [illegible] of methodology," he declared, "the result is a new concept. Language next became merely a part of physiology," he continued, although as late as 1887 [illegible] professors said that we did not know what language was. Today there is a new point of view, he said, in which language is regarded as a process of conditioning and speech a dynamic muscle moving process.

"Speech," he stated, "is the conditioning of simple vegetative functions, the function of all factors that go into it, breathing, circulation, glands. It is not a function of the mind and it is not a process of nature. It is a gift of God given to man in his tissues.

"It has its practical application in what we think profitable to our children. What profiteth it a child if he can read, write and figure if he cannot tell people what he thinks?"

"Tongues of men are of men," he said in conclusion. "They are human. But they are still the greatest gift of God to man."

Professor Muyskens illustrated his points with short stories of class room experiences which were greatly enjoyable.

The Escanaba high school brass sextet, Jack Derancourt, Rayne Labre, Donald Belanger, Robert Larson, Richard Carlton and Robert Battrell, played "Sextet from Lucia." R. P. Bowers directing and Jack Battrell played a cornet solo, Miss Louise Fank accompanying him.

Mrs. J. H. Stephens was chairman of the afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. Guy Sullivan, Mrs. Joseph Turner and Mrs. F. W. Andrew.

Anniversary

GERMANS ADVANCE

On April 14, 1918, heavy fighting on the Lys front resulted in the capture of Merris and Vieux Berquin by German troops.

British forces continued to hold Neuve Eglise against German attacks, but gains made on the flanks by the Germans rendered the town vulnerable to assaults from three sides by nightfall and military experts regarded the town's fall as inevitable.

American troops on the Toul sector were again attacked by German forces, but succeeded in beating them off after sharp fighting. More than a regiment of enemy troops participated in the attack.

The German long-range gun again bombarded Paris, but losses there were small.

German troops in Finland occupied Hyving and were reported moving on Helsingfors, unopposed by the Russian Red Guards in the vicinity.

Finnish White Guards were reported aiding the Germans.

A Book A Day
By Bruce Catton

Of all the old-time literary giants of New England Emerson has best preserved his stature. Holmes, Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell—they don't look as large, now, as they did for our fathers. But Emerson is still a giant, the finest thinker, perhaps, that America has produced.

Van Wyck Brooks has written an exceedingly readable book, "The Life of Emerson," which ought to have the effect of persuading some of the present generation of readers to go to the nearest library and make Emerson's acquaintance.

As a matter of fact, you can get a pretty fair acquaintance with the man in Mr. Brooks' biography. For he seems to have written this book on the foundation of an intensive reading of Emerson's journals. Through [illegible] tells you what Emerson [illegible] and how he felt at [illegible] his life, until you almost suspect [illegible] "fictionized biography" trick; but if you go to the journals you'll find every sentence, almost, based on Emerson's own writing.

The book gives a fine picture of Emerson's New England. What a gallery of personalities filled Emerson's life! Margaret Fuller, Thoreau, Bronson Alcott, William Ellery Channing; Mr. Brooks brings them to life [illegible] and they add infinitely to the zest of his narrative.

"The Life of Emerson" is [illegible] so mean [illegible] book that Mr. Brooks' "The Ordeal of Mark Twain" was. But it is well worth [illegible].

Millicent Molloy, Robert LeMire In Senior Play Leads

Everything is in readiness for the presentation of "Honor Bright," the Escanaba high school senior class play, which will be given Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school.

Seats are now being reserved for the play at the Senior high school office.

"Honor Bright" and Richard Barrington, leads in the production, are played by Millicent Molloy and Robert LeMire. Miss Mary Bezold is directing the play.

Honor Bright, a young college girl, vivacious, charming and full of life, who meets an interesting adventure on her first day out to sell books, is played by Miss Molloy with real talent. Richard Barrington, the care free, somewhat spoiled young man of an important New England family, played by Mr. LeMire, is bound to win his audience with his kindly sympathetic and joyful characterization.

The Bishop and [illegible] are [illegible] interesting and human personalities and the servants of the household are equally interesting people. And when Tot Marvel of the theatrical world, whom Richard wishes to marry, enters this charming and subdued atmosphere exciting situations arise which form the plot of the play.

Art Exhibit at High School on Friday Evening

One of the most interesting and varied exhibits arranged in some time, the annual art exhibit of the Escanaba Junior and Senior high schools, under the direction of Miss Lois Gaut, art supervisor, will attract hundreds of visitors to the Escanaba Junior high school Friday evening.

The exhibit will be on display in the upper foyer of the auditorium. Patrons of the senior class play, "Honor Bright," which is being presented Friday evening, may view the exhibit either before or after the performance.

The work of the elective classes, ninth through the twelfth grade, includes in one interesting group, stage plans. There are stage plans, theatre curtain borders, stage settings and costume designs and with them masks, fashioned of clay with papier mache worked over the clay.

Book jackets are of geometrical or border designs.

One display is of spatter work, very unusual, worked with screen stencils and a tooth brush. Charcoal sketches are from real models and grouped with them are pencil drawings of members of last year's class. Press crayon work in lovely coloring is used in wall hanging designs and linoleum block work used for stenciling pillows is another interesting group.

Block printing on pillows and bridge sets and the exquisite but difficult batik work forms another display, with rattan baskets, skillfully woven and stained, and raffia baskets in which designs are worked in colors.

Eighth grade work includes charcoal sketches, color charts and drawings of children of different countries copied from paintings sent the school by Mrs. A. M. Upjohn, each pupil selecting a painting of a child of his own nationality.

Other displays in this section include border designs, color study, Christmas cards from block prints, paper cutting work, nature drawings from models, perspective work, book binding and the entertaining add-a-line surface designs.

Soap carving and clay work are displayed in cases in the corridors.

Theatres

"Shopworn," the Columbia picture showing today at the Delft Theatre, stars Barbara Stanwyck in the role of a girl who had a price tag put on her soul, with Regis Toomey, ZaSu Pitts, Lucien Littlefield, Clara Blandick, Oscar Apfel, Robert Alden and others in prominent roles.

Nicholas Grinde directed "Shopworn" from an original story by Sarah Y. Mason, with dialogue by Jo Swerling and Robert Riskin. It is said to present a glamorous role for the emotional talents of Miss Stanwyck. She is first seen as a young girl of lowly surroundings but high ideals. In spite of the fact that everyone suspected she wasn't as good as she should be because she was too pretty and too popular, Kitty Lane bestowed favors to no one.

Then, when she fell headlong in love with a young medical student who was tightly tied to the apron strings of a selfish and hypochondriac mother, she found that a price had been put on her—she was cheap in their eyes, but they found they couldn't buy her!

"Tongues of Men" Is Subject of Splendid Talk

One of the most thoroughly enjoyable and entertaining addresses of the year's program of the Escanaba Woman's club was the lecture given Wednesday afternoon at the regular club meeting in the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school, by John H. Muyskens, assistant professor of Phonetics, University of Michigan.

Professor Muyskens selected as his topic for Wednesday afternoon's address, "Tongues of Men."

Opening his address, he described people as of two classes, those conserving things of the past and those intent on making the past subservient to a larger and nobler future. The purpose of today's research is to make practical the discoveries of the laboratory.

"The pen has been described as mightier than the sword," he said, "but the spoken word is even mightier."

"Four kinds of definitions for language," he continued, "include, first, the element of superstition, second, that of description, third, the element of empiricism, and fourth, that of sounds, interpretation, in short, objective knowledge."

Elaborating upon this he spoke of the first thoughts of literature which were superstitious, such as the early Greek literature which deals with the Gods of Olympus, and the similar themes in Latin and in the Sanskrit; then of the next step in literature in which the gods did not come down to live with men but sent their representatives, whose exploits color literature of that period; then of the change which comes when men begin to laugh with Boccaccio at kings, leading to idealization of common man, and finally of today's new values which are presenting themselves in the so-called "debunking" literature and biographies, in which phase objective knowledge plays its part.

Four Phases

The same four phases may be traced in the study of sciences, he declared.

"In the history of languages, we find like steps," he continued. "Language was first considered to be the gift of God. Adam and Eve had to converse so were handed a ready-made language. Then the influence of sin came and we have the Tower of Babel story to account for all the multiplicity of language."

The next step in studying language, he said, was to attack it from the grammatical side; then the study of it, as Grimm sponsored it, from the point of view of content, with its conclusions concerning the evolution of races and their relation. "With each shift of methodology," he declared, "the result is a new content. Language next became merely a part of physiology, he continued, although as late as 1887, learned professors said that we did not know what language was. Today there is a new point of view, he said, in which language is regarded as a process of conditioning and speech a dynamic muscle moving process.

"Speech," he stated, "is the conditioning of simple vegetative functions, the function of all factors that go into it, breathing, circulation, glands. It is not a function of the mind and it is not a process of nature. It is a gift of God given to man in his tissues."

"It has its practical application in what we think profitable to our children. What profiteth it a child if he can read, write and figure, if he cannot tell people what he thinks?"

"Tongues of men are of men," he said in conclusion. "They are human. But they are still the greatest gift of God to man."

Professor Muyskens illustrated his points with short stories of class room experiences which were equally enjoyable.

The Escanaba high school brass sextet, Jack Duranceau, Rayne Labre, Donald Belanger, Robert Larson, Richard Carlton and Robert Batrella, played "Sextet from Lucia," R. P. Bowers directing, and Jack Bartella played a cornet solo, Miss Louise Fink accompanying him.

Mrs. J. H. Stephens was chairman of the afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. Guy Sullivan, Mrs. Joseph Turner and Mrs. F. W. Andrew.

GERMANS ADVANCE

On April 14, 1918, heavy fighting on the Lys front resulted in the capture of Merris and Vieux Berquin by German troops.

British forces cotninued to hold Neuve Eglise against German attacks, but gains made on the flanks by the Germans rendered the town vulnerable to assaults from three sides by nightfall and military experts regarded the town's fall as inevitable.

American troops on the Toul sector were again attacked by German forces, but succeeded in beating them off after sharp fighting. More than a regiment of enemy troops participated in the attack.

The German long-range gun again bombarded Paris, but losses there were small.

German troops in Finland occupied Hyving and were reported moving on Helsingfors, unopposed by the Russian Red Guards in the vicinity.

Finnish White Guards were reported aiding the Germans.

A Book A Day
By Bruce Catton

Of all the old-time literary giants of New England, Emerson has best preserved his stature. Holmes, Longfellow, Whittier, Lowell—they don't loom as large, now, as they did for our fathers. But Emerson is still a giant; the finest thinker, perhaps, that America has produced.

Van Wyck Brooks has written an exceedingly readable book, "The Life of Emerson," which ought to have the effect of persuading some of the present generation of readers to go to the nearest library and make Emerson's acquaintance.

As a matter of fact, you can get a pretty fair acquaintance with the man in Mr. Brooks' biography. For he seems to have written his book on the foundation of an extensive reading of Emerson's journals. Through page after page he tells you what Emerson thought and how he felt at this or that moment in his life, until you almost suspect him of employing the shoddy "fictionized biography" trick; but if you go to the journals you'll find every sentence, almost, based on Emerson's own writing.

The book gives a fine picture of Emerson's New England. What a gallery of personalities filled Emerson's life! Margaret Fuller Thoreau, Bronson Alcott, William Ellery Channing—Mr. Brooks brings them to life ably, and they add infinitely to the zest of his narrative.

"The Life of Emerson" is by no means the book that Mr. Brooks' "The Ordeal of Mark Twain" was. But it is well worth your while.

Millicent Molloy, Robert LeMire In Senior Play Leads

Everything is in readiness for the presentation of "Honor Bright," the Escanaba high school senior class play, which will be given Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock at the William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school.

Seats are now being reserved for the play at the Senior high school office.

"Honor Bright" and Richard Barrington, leads in the production, are played by Millicent Molloy and Robert LeMire. Miss Marie Bezold is directing the play.

Honor Bright, a young college girl, vivacious, charming and full of life who meets an interesting adventure on her first day out to sell books, is played by Miss Molloy with real talent. Richard Barrington, the carefree, somewhat spoiled young man of an important New England family, played by Mr. LeMire, is bound to win his audience with his kind, sympathetic and jovial characterization.

The Bishop and his wife are wholly interesting and human personalities and the servants of the household are equally interesting people. And when Tot Marvel of the theatrical work, whom Richard wishes to marry, enters this charming and subdued atmosphere, exciting situations arise which form the plot of the play.

COMMUNICATIONS

NEED COUNTY AGENT

Editor, Escanaba Daily Press.

Dear Sir: I would appreciate it very much if you would allow me a little space in your columns to answer the communication of Stanley Mroczkswski, the so-called Bark River farmer, so as to correct several misstatements he has made with regard to farm problems and the value of the county agent's service to the farmers of Delta county.

I do not wish to enter into prolonged argument with Mr. Mroczkowski, but I believe that some of the statements he has made, if allowed to go unanswered, will cause considerable misunderstanding and damage to the Delta county farmers, who wish to avail themselves of the services of the county agent so that they may apply efficient methods on their farms.

Mr. Mroczkowski says it costs him 30 cents per month to feed each hen on his farm, which in itself is proof that he needs the services of the "specialists" to tell him how to reduce his costs. Last year when feed costs were about 25 percent higher than now, the cost of feeding the demonstration flocks in the upper peninsula averaged 15 cents per hen, while the highest it has ever been was 20 cents per hen per month back in 1928, the year when feed was at peak prices.

The Bark River farmer also reveals in his writings that he has not listened very attentively when the specialists were speaking. I have attended all the meetings that have been held in my district, and at no time have heard the dairy expert stipulate what brand of commercial feed should be purchased; in fact, the expert has always recommended that farmers use home-grown rations whenever possible. I must also correct the statement that a specialist advises the use of one ton of commercial fertilizer per acre. The fact of the matter is that I have always heard the amount prescribed as 500 to 700 pounds.

Admitting prices for potatoes are low now, I believe the average has been quite satisfactory. In the last five years, including the 1931 crop now selling for 24 cents a bushel, the average paid the farmers for potatoes in the upper peninsula is [illegible] cents per bushel.

I believe that all farmers want taxes reduced, but I don't believe they want to dispense with those services from which they benefit. The county agent's office costs Delta county taxpayers only $3,550 per year. Of this amount, the 1358 farmers in the county pay 11 percent or about 25 cents apiece annually. The nonfarmers pay 89 percent of the taxes that goes to support of the county agent's office, but from none of this group do you hear any criticism.

Industries hire experts to show them [illegible] methods of management. The county agent and the agricultural extension department workers perform the same service for those engaged in farming, and at a very small cost to the farmers themselves.

The benefit of the county agent's work in Delta county needs no telling. Cow testing alone has meant a great improvement of our dairy industry. The specialists have shown us how to use formaldehyde in treating smut, making it possible for the farmers to prevent losses in grain crops. I would roughly estimate that the average farmer can save seven bushels of grain per year by treatment for smut, and if all the county farmers used it there would be a saving of about 10,000 bushels, which is a saving amounting to more than the cost of the county agent's office.

I am certain that I have been farming in this region longer than Mr. Mroczkowski, but I have found that I could always benefit myself by availing myself of the service of the county agent. We cannot farm now like we did twenty years ago, and the only way to keep up with the times is to have the help of the county agent and the other workers of the department of agriculture.

Yours truly,
Frank Barron

Splendid Address Given by Muyskens At B. &P. W. Meet

A most appreciative audience listened to one of the best addresses given in this city in many months when Dr. John Muyskens, professor of Phonetics at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, spoke to the members of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's club and their guests at a meeting held last evening at the Ludington hotel.

Dr. Muyskens' topic, "The Improvement of Personality," was based on his knowledge of personalities which he has studied. He explained that personality as usually discussed in relation to society can be defined in three classes.

Dr. Muyskens stated that personality is a function of the tissues and that personalities can be developed from early childhood and parents had much to do towards the development of personality in their children. "It is an easy matter for parents to start the child in the right direction in its early life," he said. "We live in a right-handed world and children can be trained in that manner."

Edward Lucas, Jr., sang two solos, "Deep in My Heart Beloved" by Johnson, and "The Purple Road" by Beam, with Mrs. Edward Lucas, Sr., playing the piano accompaniment.

Miss Alice Kvam, newly elected president, presided at the meeting and Miss Lilian Perkins had charge of the program.

COMMUNICATIONS

NEED COUNTY AGENT

Editor, Escanaba Daily Press,

Dear Sir: I would appreciate it very much if you would allow me a little space in your columns to answer the communication of Stanley Mroczkswski, the so-called Bark River farmer, so as to correct several misstatements he has made with regard to farm problems and the value of the county agent's service to the farmers of Delta county.

I do not wish to enter into prolonged argument with Mr. Mroczkowski, but I believe that some of the statements he has made, if allowed to go unanswered, will cause considerable misunderstanding and damage to the Delta county farmers, who wish to avail themselves of the services of the county agent so that they may apply efficient methods on their farms.

Mr. Mroczkowski says it costs him 30 cents per month to feed each hen on his farm, which in itself is proof that he needs the services of the "specialists" to tell him how to reduce his costs. Last year when feed costs were about 25 percent higher than now, the cost of feeding the demonstration flocks in the upper peninsula averaged 15 cents per hen, while the highest it has ever been was 20 cents per hen per month back in 1928, the year when feed was at peak prices.

The Bark River farmer also reveals in his writings that he has not listened very attentively when the specialists were speaking. I have attended all the meetings that have been held in my district, and at no time have heard the dairy expert stipulate what brand of commercial feed should be purchased; in fact, the expert has always recommended that farmers use home-grown rations whenever possible. I must also correct the statement that a specialist advises the use of one ton of commercial fertilizer per acre. The fact of the matter is that I have always heard the amount prescribed as 500 to 700 pounds.

Admitting prices for potatoes are low now, I believe the average has been quite satisfactory. In the last five years, including the 1931 crop now selling for 24 cents a bushel, the average paid the farmers for potatoes in the upper peninsula is 53 cents per bushel.

I believe that all farmers want taxes reduced, but I don't believe they want to dispense with those services from which they benefit. The county agent's office costs Delta county taxpayers only $3,550 per year. Of this amount, the 1388 farmers in the county pay 11 percent or about 35 cents apiece annually. The non-farmers pay 89 percent of the taxes that goes to support of the county agent's office, but from none of this group do you hear any criticism.

Industries hire experts to show efficient methods of management. The county agent and the agricultural extension department workers perform the same service for those engaged in farming, and at a very small cost to the farmers themselves.

The benefits of the county agent's work in Delta county needs no telling. Cow testing alone has meant a great improvement of our dairy industry. Directed Verdict Awarded C&NW; Second Case Today

A directed verdict in favor of the defendant was given Wednesday in Delta county circuit court in the case of Agnes Nault, administratrix of the estate of Alcide Nault, deceased, against the Chicago and North Western railway company.

Mr. Nault, who was 66, died Oct. 26, 1930, while employed as a top dock worker on C. & N. W. ore dock No. 6. The plaintiff charged that Mr. Nault fell off the dock, and that his death was due to negligence on the part of the defendant company. After Daniel J. O'Hara, attorney for the plaintiff, had closed his case, Attorney James E. Frost of the defense moved for a directed verdict in favor of the railway company. Judge Frank A. Bell held that the plaintiff had not shown sufficient proof that the death was directly due to negligence on the part of the railway company, and that therefore the plaintiff was not entitled to recover damages. He instructed the jury that their verdict must be no cause for action.

Members of the jury were: Ray Kauthen, Edward Kull, James Redmond, Clarence White, Harry Reynolds, Fred Gardner, Leslie Carlson, James York, Otto Dittrich, Alfred Anderson, Charles Follo, Ralph Gasman.

Another suit against the C. & N. W., brought by Peter Belanger, is scheduled for hearing today. Derham and Derham of Iron Mountain will represent the plaintiff.

New T-B Sanatorium Should Be Delayed, Dr. Towey Believes

Luce, and other counties in the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula, as well as the upper counties in the Lower Peninsula should ask the state administration to consider carefully the debt owed by the state to the counties for the care of tubercular patients before proceeding with the erection of the new Northern Sanatorium. This is the opinion of Dr. John Towey, of Powers who came to Newberry on Monday to conduct a chest clinic.

The state, at the present time, is owing the counties $1,400,000 for the care of indigent tubercular patients. As it is, some other provision must be made to provide the state funds to the counties or some adoption must be made to the act and postpone the building of the new sanatorium, otherwise the counties will be financially handicapped in the care of their indigent patients.

During the period of the "economic depression," great pressure has been brought to bear upon the local poor boards making it necessary for them to "shop around" to discover the cheapest institutions in which to hospitalize the tubercular patients.

At the present time, the state sanatorium at Howell offers the cheapest hospitalization for the counties participating in the ownership of our county sanatorium. It is the hospitalization policy of our state sanatorium to refuse hospitalization to far advanced hopeless consumptives. It will become a problem for the counties not owning sanatoriums to find proper hospitalization facilities for this type of patient.

Institutions such as Pinecrest, at Powers, have accepted patients from outside their sanatorial district when their hospital accommodations would permit their doing so.

Under their new policy simply seeking hospitalization for the hopeless indigent is presenting a similar aspect for the hospital authorities to consider. This type of patient requires more expensive services in the hospital and the acceptance of this type of patient from outside counties does not work ultimately for the good of the institution.

Dr. Towey has been conducting clinics in this county for seven or eight years.

But even to old friends, the price is NEWS. And get this fact—these tires are built by Goodyear—marked with the Goodyear name and house flag—sinewed by that famous Goodyear cord material, Supertwist.

All of which means that these Goodyear Pathfinders can give you more for your money than tires ever gave before, and that is saying a whale of a lot.

Doesn't that make you ask yourself: "Why buy any second-choice tire when FIRST-choice costs no more?"

Want 6 "plies"★ at a Low Price?

HERE is a tire that needs no introduction to several million car owners who have proved its sturdy value and honest wear on the road.

But even to old friends, the price is NEWS. And get this fact—these tires are built by Goodyear—marked with the Goodyear name and house flag—sinewed by that famous Goodyear cord material, Supertwist.

All of which means that these Goodyear Pathfinders can give you more for your money than tires ever gave before, and that is saying a whale of a lot.

If the tread on your tires is getting bald—if the rubber is getting thin—don't flirt with trouble and take chances of skids. You can get a whole set of tires at such prices as these and hardly miss the money.

Read the sample prices shown here—remember they buy Goodyears.

Doesn't that make you ask yourself: "Why buy any second-choice tire when FIRST-choice costs no more?"

★SIX "PLIES" —of the six layers of cord fabric under the tread in this tire, two do not run from bead to bead—they are really "breaker strips", and that's what we call them, although some tire makers call them extra plies

FINE ADDRESS HEARD BY CLUB

Professor Muyskens Delivers Lecture on Reflex Actions

Professor Muyskens, of the University of Michigan Extension division delivered one of the most interesting lectures of the year Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Manistique Woman's club at the Elks' temple when he spoke on the subject of reflex actions.

Professor Muyskens effectively described the various reflexes evident in children from the prenatal stage up to the adolescent period and told of the various conditioning processes. Reflex movements require no thought, the speaker stated, and are actions produced by an afferent impulse to a nerve center and its reflection thence as an efferent impulse independent of volition such as the winking of an eye or the sudden withdrawal of a finger at contact with intense heat.

Animals like the dog, horse, cat, etc., possess reflex actions, declared Professor Muyskens, human beings differing from animals through the additional faculty of reasoning power.

A fluent and forceful speaker, Professor Muyskens completely held the interest of his audience throughout his address and those who were fortunate enough to hear him were unanimous in the opinion that his lecture was one of the most interesting held here in years.

Musical selections were given by Fred Hicks, lay reader of St. Alban's Mission, who beautifully sang "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves," and "One Alone." He was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Baldwin at the piano.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames R. L. Prine, A. S. Putnam, H. H. Powers, L. C. Smith and Wayne Martin. Tables were effectively adorned with snapdragons and were presided at by Mrs. Arthur S. Putnam and Mrs. R. B. Waddell, club president.

HIAWATHA NEWS

Hiawatha, Mich. (Special) At the election recount that was held last Saturday afternoon it was found that Mr. Laurence Aldrich had won the office of Overseer for the Upper district by one vote. The other candidate was Mr. Arnold Hendrickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers of Jack-Pine lodge have returned from Sarasota, Florida, where they spent the winter months. They are accompanied by their little granddaughter Mary Jane Herbst. A few days before starting back little Mary Jane, who is ten years old, was playing out in the palmettos when she saw a small alligator lying asleep on a log. It was about three feet long. Mary Jane commanded her playmate to stay and watch it while she ran to the house to get a bag to put it in. The little playmate absolutely refused and so Mary Jane then told her that she would watch and for the playmate to go. This was all right, so the playmate ran to the house and came back with a gunny sack. Mary Jane picked up the alligator and putting it in the sack she carried it home, and when her grandparents started back Mary Jane would not leave her pet and so they now have it up at Jack-pine lodge. It will run all over the room and up and around Mary Jane's arms and neck and is quite a study to Mary Jane.

George Carney has been spending the past week helping the Neville boys in the building of their cabins on a lake above Stuben.

Quite a few of the neighbors were gathered in our woods on Sunday watching the making of maple syrup and roasting potatoes in the coals under the pans. Some of the folks from town seem to think it is great sport to bring a pot luck lunch and eat out in the sugar shanty and nothing tastes better than half raw and burned baked potatoes as long as they are roasted in the coals, and eggs that are cooked in the boiling sap.

According to report our teacher, Miss Gladys Guest is not going to be with us next year and we are sorry to hear that she is going to leave. Miss Mildred Wieland, of the lower settlement expects to take her place and we are also glad that one of our home girls is getting a chance in her own township. Miss Weilund is a graduate of Marquette University, and was born and raised in the lower community of Hiawatha.

Kenneth and Gilbert Hyland are making syrup at their camp near Thompson.

N. C. Byers took two busloads of high school children out to Thompson to visit and study the fish hatchery there and all reported an enjoyable trip.

At the last Grange meeting quite an enjoyable lecture hour was given and each member had to get up and tell why they joined and why they remained a member of the Grange. Some of the answers were so funny that we will have to pass them on. It was all in fun but still quite a bit of good grain was raked from the chaff. Among the older ones who joined over twenty-three years ago it was said that they joined because at that time we rarely ever saw each other, went to town once in six months and hardly knew when a new neighbor moved in. It helped to bring us together, to get better prices for our food stuffs and grain and helped also when we wanted to buy. When the younger folks got up to talk it was a different story. One young man said he came out to grange because he always had some kind of a scrap, and it was a dandy place to chew the rag, and then he liked the eats pretty well, too. Another said he joined because the school teacher belonged. Another one said that aside from the eats he liked to come to grange because his wife had some small babies and that was one place where he didn't have to mind them. A lady said that she joined just because she had been coaxed into it but after she got in she was liking it more and more. We wish that all the old members would come back and have some genuine old good times like we did when we had no hall and had to walk from one house to another to hold our meetings.

FINE ADDRESS HEARD BY CLUB

Professor Muyskens Delivers Lecture on Reflex Actions

Professor Muyskens, of the University of Michigan Extension division delivered one of the most interesting lectures of the year Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Manistique Woman's club at the Elks' temple when he spoke on the subject of reflex actions.

Professor Muyskens effectively described the various reflexes evident in children from the prenatal stage up to the adolescent period and told of the various conditioning processes. Reflex movements require no thought, the speaker stated, and are actions produced by an afferent impulse to a nerve center and its reflection thence as an efferent impulse independent of volition, such as the winking of an eye or the sudden withdrawal of a finger at contact with intense heat.

Animals like the dog, horse, cat, etc., possess reflex actions, declared Professor Muyskens, human beings differing from animals through the additional faculty of reasoning power.

A fluent and forceful speaker, Professor Muyskens completely held the interest of his audience throughout his address and those who were fortunate enough to hear him were unanimous in the opinion that his lecture was one of the most interesting held here in years.

Musical selections were given by Fred Hicks, lay reader of St. Alban's Mission, who beautifully sang "Hear Me Ye Winds and Waves," and "One Alone." He was accompanied by Mrs. Paul Baldwin at the piano.

Hostesses for the day were Mesdames R. L. Prine, A. S. Putnam, H. H. Powers, L. C. Smith, and Wayne Martin. Tables were effectively adorned with snapdragons and were presided at by Mrs. Arthur S. Putnam and Mrs. R. B. Waddell, club president.

HIAWATHA NEWS

Hiawatha, Mich. (Special)—At the election recount that was held last Saturday afternoon it was found that Mr. Laurence Aldrich had won the office of Overseer for the Upper district by one vote. The other candidate was Mr. Arnold Hendrickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Byers of Jack-Pine lodge have returned from Sarasota, Florida, where they spent the winter months. They are accompanied by their little granddaughter Mary Jane Herbst. A few days before starting back little Mary Jane, who is ten years old, was playing out in the palmettos when she saw a small alligator lying asleep on a log. It was about three feet long. Mary Jane commanded her playmate to stay and watch it while she ran to the house to get a bag to put it in. The little playmate absolutely refused and so Mary Jane then told her that she would watch and for the playmate to go. This was all right, so the playmate ran to the house and came back with a gunny sack. Mary Jane picked up the alligator and putting it in the sack she carried it home, and when her grandparents started back Mary Jane would not leave her pet and so they now have it up at Jack-pine lodge. It will run all over the room and up and around Mary Jane's arms and neck and is quite a study to Mary Jane.

George Carney has been spending the past week helping the Neville boys in the building of their cabins on a lake above Stuben.

Quite a few of the neighbors were gathered in our woods on Sunday watching the making of maple syrup and roasting potatoes in the coals under the pans. Some of the folks from town seem to think it is great sport to bring a pot-luck lunch and eat out in the sugar shanty and nothing tastes better than half raw and burned baked potatoes as long as they are roasted in the coals, and eggs that are cooked in the boiling sap.

According to report our teacher, Miss Gladys Guest is not going to be with us next year and we are sorry to hear that she is going to leave. Miss Mildred Wieland, of the lower settlement expects to take her place and we are also glad that one of our home girls is getting a chance in her own township. Miss Weilund is a graduate of Marquette University, and was born and raised in the lower community of Hiawatha.

Kenneth and Gilbert Hyland are making syrup at their camp near Thompson.

N. C. Byers took two busloads of high school children out to Thompson to visit and study the fish hatchery there and all reported an enjoyable trip.

At the last Grange meeting quite an enjoyable lecture hour was given and each member had to get up and tell why they joined and why they remained a member of the Grange. Some of the answers were so funny that we will have to pass them on. It was all in fun but still quite a bit of good grain was raked from the chaff. Among the older ones who joined over twenty-three years ago it was said that they joined because at that time we rarely ever saw each other, went to town once in six months and hardly knew when a new neighbor moved in. It helped to bring us together, to get better prices for our food stuffs and grain and helped also when we wanted to buy. When the younger folks' got up to talk it was a different story. One young man said he came out to grange because he always had some kind of a scrap, and it was a dandy place to chew the rag, and then he liked the eats pretty well, too. Another said he joined because the school teacher belonged. Another one said that aside from the eats he liked to come to grange because his wife had some small babies and that was one place where he didn't have to mind them. A lady said that she joined just because she had been coaxed into it but after she got in she was liking it more and more. We wish that all the old members would come back and have some genuine old good times like we did when we had no hall and had to walk from one house to another to hold our meetings.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples — a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, April 13 (AP)—Against a background of cheapening credit and a batch of negative or disappointing trade reports, stocks backed and filled irregularly today.

Although the closing was lower, net losses in pivotal issues were largely fractional. Probably of more importance than the charges was evidence that recent waves of liquidation had subsided into a trickle, for only 1,090,200 shares changed hands, the smallest volume in a month.

There were roughly a dozen exceptions to the rule of narrow losses. Peoples Gas, in common with other Insull issues, weakened and was down 10¼ net. Norfolk & Western suffered a late break of 8½ points. Lambert and Drug, Inc., sold off about 3. City Ice & Fuel slumped 5 and Standard Oil of New Jersey reacted more than a point, presumably because holders feared for the safety of the extra dividend in view of current estimates on last year's earnings. Coca Cola's 5 point dip to a quotation just under par left American Telephone and Homestake Mining in sole ownership, among active common stocks, of quotations above 100. Union Pacific lost 2 net, which meant violation of the 50 mark and Atchison was off 1.

In U. S. Steel, Telephone, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, General Motors, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B," North American and Sears Roebuck losses averaged half a point. Woolworth was steady on maintenance of the dividend, although no adverse action had been expected. Continental Can also stuck to its old basis of payments. Two rallies broke into the decline.

Expansion of federal reserve credit through more aggressive open market operations will meet the wishes of those who have urged a thorough trial of such a policy as a means of arresting deflation.

At present, member bank federal discounts approximating $635,000,000 and it has been suggested that commercial institutions might not be willing to lend more freely until these borrowings were greatly reduced.

Schwab and Grace Express Faith In Future Of Company

Newark, N. J., April 13 (AP)—Although the usual optimism was absent from the annual meeting of the Bethlehem Steel corporation stockholders today, Chairman Charles M. Schwab and President Eugene G. Grace both expressed faith in the future of the industry and indicated the regular preferred dividend would be declared April 28.

Mr. Schwab explained that, while the corporation was not earning its preferred rates, he expected to recommend their payment at the next meeting of the board of directors.

"Bad as things are, bad as things look and as blue as everybody is at present," the chairman said, "I am still optimistic on the outlook of the country and of your company. But never in the 27 years we have gathered together have things appeared so depressing as now."

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, April 13 Under a heavy load of selling to realize profits, grain values tumbled today, powerless to hold fully to its recent bulge of almost 8 cents.

A majority of commission houses advocated profit-taking rather than new purchases in view of possible rains and because of some doubts that growing weather would justify reports of big crop damage. A low barometer in Texas was regarded with suspicion by many traders as perhaps indicative of a general break-up of drought.

Wheat closed unsteady near the day's bottom level, and 1¼ to 1 3-4 lower than yesterday's finish, corn ¼ to 5-8 down, oats ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline.

Corn and oats sagged with wheat. More corn than of late was offered from the country.

Provisions tended downgrade with cereals nothwithstanding firmness of the hog market.

Anaconda Has Loss Of Three Million

New York, April 13 (AP)—Anaconda Copper Mining Co., one of the world's leading producers and fabricators of copper, today reported a net loss of $3,151,726 for 1931, after charges for depreciation and obsolescence, in contrast to a net profit of $18,782,968 for 1930.

In addition, the statement showed an inventory writedown of $7,449,459, reflecting the reducing of all unsold metals to market values, and dividends paid of $6,765,656. These and other minor deductions resulted in an aggregate deficit for the year of $17,829,338, charged to surplus.

The balance sheet listed current assets of $113,349,757, and current liabilities of $71,338,989. The chief item in the current liabilities was $61,500,000 in notes payable. Current assets consisted of $6,363,551 in cash, $2,708,829 in marketable securities, $11,161,858 in receivables, and inventories and supplies on hand of $93,116,517.

Fishers Holding On General Motor

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—Announcement was made here today of the appointment of Alfred J. Fisher to the operating committee of the General Motors Corp., setting at rest rumors that the Fisher brothers were selling their General Motors holdings.

The operating committee working in conjunction with the executive committee is the directing force of the corporation. Alfred J. Fisher's advancement is in line with what has become almost a family tradition. Four of the brothers, Fred J., Charles T., Lawrence P. and William J. Fisher are vice presidents and members of the executive committee. Lawrence P. Fisher also is president of the Cadillac Motor Car Co. and William J. Fisher is president of the Fisher Body Corp., units of General Motors.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, April 13 (AP)—Against a background of cheapening credit and a batch of negative or disappointing trade reports, stocks backed and filled irregularly today.

Although the closing was lower, net losses in pivotal issues were largely fractional. Probably of more importance than the charges was evidence that recent waves of liquidation had subsided into a trickle, for only 1,090,200 shares changed hands, the smallest volume in a month.

There were roughly a dozen exceptions to the rule of narrow losses. Peoples Gas, in common with other Insull issues, weakened and was down 10¼ net. Norfolk & Western suffered a late break of 8½ points. Lambert and Drug, Inc., sold off about 3. City Ice & Fuel slumped 5 and Standard Oil of New Jersey reacted more than a point, presumably because holders feared for the safety of the extra dividend in view of current estimates on last year's earnings. Coca Cola's 5 point dip to a quotation just under par left American Telephone and Homestake Mining in sole ownership, among active common stocks, of quotations above 100. Union Pacific lost 2 net, which meant violation of the 50 mark and Atchison was off 1.

In U. S. Steel, Telephone, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, General Motors, National Biscuit, American Tobacco "B," North American and Sears Roebuck losses averaged half a point. Woolworth was steady on maintenance of the dividend, although no adverse action had been expected. Continental Can also stuck to its old basis of payments. Two rallies broke into the decline.

Expansion of federal reserve credit through more aggressive open market operations will meet the wishes of those who have urged a thorough trial of such a policy as a means of arresting deflation.

At present, member bank federal discounts approximating $635,000,000 and it has been suggested that commercial institutions might not be willing to lend more freely until these borrowings were greatly reduced.

Schwab and Grace Express Faith In Future Of Company

Newark, N. J., April 12 (AP)—Although the usual optimism was absent from the annual meeting of the Bethlehem Steel corporation stockholders today, Chairman Charles M. Schwab and President Eugene G. Grace both expressed faith in the future of the industry and indicated the regular preferred dividend would be declared April 28.

Mr. Schwab explained that, while the corporation was not earning its preferred rates, he expected to recommend their payment at the next meeting of the board of directors.

"Bad as things are, bad as things look and as blue as everybody is at present," the chairman said, "I am still optimistic on the outlook of the country and of your company. But never in the 27 years we have gathered together have things appeared so depressing as now."

S. No. 1, mostly 3.50.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, April 13—Under a heavy load of selling to realize profits, grain values tumbled today, powerless to hold fully to its recent bulge of almost 8 cents.

A majority of commission houses advocated profit-taking rather than new purchases in view of possible rains and because of some doubts that growing weather would justify reports of big crop damage. A low barometer in Texas was regarded with suspicion by many traders as perhaps indicative of a general break-up of drought.

Wheat closed unsteady near the day's bottom level, and 1¼ to 1 3-4 lower than yesterday's finish, corn ¼ to 5-8 down, oats ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents decline.

Corn and oats sagged with wheat. More corn than of late was offered from the country.

Provisions tended downgrade with cereals nothwithstanding firmness of the hog market.

Closing indemnities: *Wheat—May, 57 3-4 to 7-8, 60 3-4; July, 60 5-8 to 3-4, 63 3-4 to 7-8. Corn—May, 33 7-8 to 34, 34 7-8; July, 37 1-8, 38; September, 39 3-4, 40 5-8.

Anaconda Has Loss Of Three Million

New York, April 13 (AP)—Anaconda Copper Mining Co., one of the world's leading producers and fabricators of copper, today reported a net loss of $3,151,726 for 1931, after charges for depreciation and obsolescence, in contrast to a net profit of $18,782,968 for 1930.

In addition, the statement showed an inventory writedown of $7,449,459, reflecting the reducing of all unsold metals to market values, and dividends paid of $6,765,656. These and other minor deductions resulted in an aggregate deficit for the year of $17,829,338, charged to surplus.

The balance sheet listed current assets of $113,349,757, and current liabilities of $71,338,989. The chief item in the current liabilities was $61,500,000 in notes payable. Current assets consisted of $6,363,551 in cash, $2,708,829 in marketable securities, $11,161,858 in receivables, and inventories and supplies on hand of $93,116,517.

Fishers Holding On General Motors

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—Announcement was made here today of the appointment of Alfred J. Fisher to the operating committee of the General Motors Corp., setting at rest rumors that the Fisher brothers were selling their General Motors holdings.

The operating committee, working in conjunction with the executive committee, is the directing force of the corporation. Alfred J. Fisher's advancement is in line with what has become almost a family tradition. Four of the brothers, Fred J., Charles T., Lawrence P. and William J. Fisher, are vice presidents and members of the executive committee. Lawrence P. Fisher also is president of the Cadillac Motor Car Co. and William J. Fisher is president of the Fisher Body Corp., units of General Motors.

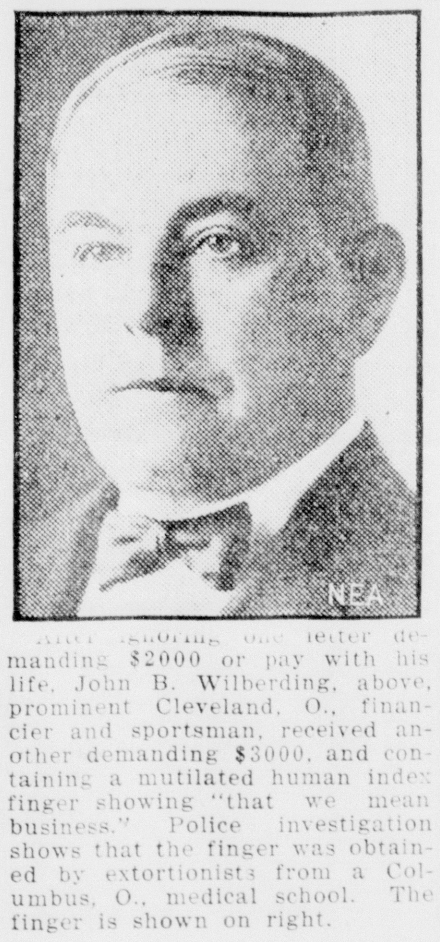
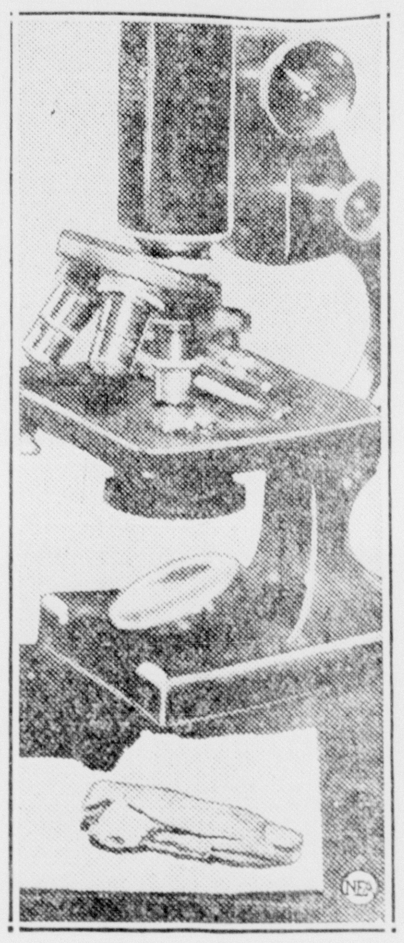
Human Finger in Extortion Plot





After ignoring one letter demanding $2000 or pay with his life, John B. Wilberding, above, prominent Cleveland, O., financier and sportsman, received another demanding $3000, and containing a mutilated human index finger showing "that we mean business." Police investigation shows that the finger was obtained by extortionists from a Columbus, O., medical school. The finger is shown on right.

xNew 1932 low.
xx—Previous 1932 low.

New York, April 13 (AP)—Buoyancy of United States government loans seemed to give some encouragement to the general bond market today, but corporate issues, after sporadic and rather feeble rallies, again dropped into new low territory for the year.

Strength of the federals, ten of which recorded the highest prices for 1932, was attributed partly to the belief that easy money conditions have finally arrived and to the fact that banks and investors are steadily accumulating both the Liberties and treasuries.

While the average for 60 corporate securities closed 2-10 of a point lower, various issues displayed a firmer undertone than usual. Some dealers were of the opinion that the market today gave indications of a drying up of liquidation.

The utilities maintained a fairly even trend.

Polish loans weakened the foreign section, falling from 2 to more than 5 points. South Americans, with the exception of Brazilians, were also soft. The British, Germans and Japanese were steady.

Sales totaled $14,569,000 par value.

Selling Is Slow In Curb Market

New York, April 13 (AP)—Selling dwindled in today's curb market, but the list was unable to accomplish a sustained recovery, and closed irregularly lower.

The list showed firming tendencies for a time in the morning, but advances were largely lost as the session wore on. Weakness again cropped out in some of the Insull issues.

Commonwealth Edison broke sharply, along with Peoples Gas on the big board. It closed at 54, off 9½, and 1½ above the day's low. Electric Bond and Share advanced a fraction, then reacted to close off ½. United Light "A" was firm.

Oils were mixed. Humble dropped 3 points to a new low at 39¼. Gulf lost a point. Standard of Indiana, however, was steady, and Kentucky mounted a fraction. Cities Service closed at 5, off 1-8.

ium scented bath crystals for her birthday. It was her favorite scent. If everything had irked her on the homeward ride now everything seemed suddenly right. How lucky it was that her flowered chiffon, her only "party" dress worthy of the name, had been returned from the cleaners the day before! How lucky it was she had washed her hair Monday night! How lucky she was to have a natural wave, intensified by the summer heat so that all she had to do was press her fingers into the little ridges to make her head a dark, shining, cap of undulation!

SHE was ready long before seven o'clock. While she waited she began to feel the agitation of a diver about to take the great plunge. Her mind revolved in busy whirligigs. What if Aunt Jessie should happen in without warning? What if Mrs. McLeod who always watched the goings and comings of the neighborhood from behind her starched curtains should spread the rumor that Susan Carey was becoming "fast?" Susan shuddered. To be "fast" in the little community where she lived was to be quite beyond the pole. Although Chicago is a metropolis, in its neighborhood groups there exists much of the spirit of the average small town.

Susan's reverie was interrupted by the sharp peal of the door bell. She caught up her gloves in a flurry and for the hundredth time wished she had a proper summer evening wrap instead of the wretched old black coat from last season. She opened the door with fingers that shook a little.

There he stood, seeming taller than usual, and, as always, perfectly turned out.

Susan closed the door of the cottage primly behind her. Aunt Jessie had always told her that a lady never receives a gentleman at home alone. Waring smiled suddenly as if he caught the reason for her abrupt gesture.

"I won't bite, you know," he said with mild raillery and Susan went scarlet. It was annoying to be so transparent.

As she ran down the steps with her escort she forgot everything in her sudden surprise. There, jauntily perched in the rumble seat, a jaded looking young man at her side, sat Ray Flannery.

"Hello," chirped Ray. "I'm starving. Let's step on it!"

xNew 1932 low.
xx Previous 1932 low.

New York, April 13 (AP)—Buoyancy of United States government loans seemed to give some encouragement to the general bond market today, but corporate issues, after sporadic and rather feeble rallies, again dropped into new low territory for the year.

Strength of the federals, ten of which recorded the highest prices for 1932, was attributed partly to the belief that easy money conditions have finally arrived and to the fact that banks and investors are steadily accumulating both the Liberties and treasuries.

While the average for 60 corporate securities closed 2-10 of a point lower, various issues displayed a firmer undertone than usual. Some dealers were of the opinion that the market today gave indications of a drying up of liquidation.

The utilities maintained a fairly even trend.

Polish loans weakened the foreign section, falling from 2 to more than 5 points. South Americans, with the exception of Brazilians, were also soft. The British, Germans and Japanese were steady.

Sales totaled $14,569,000 par value.

Selling Is Slow In Curb Market

New York, April 13 (AP) Selling dwindled in today's curb market, but the list was unable to accomplish a sustained recovery, and closed irregularly lower.

The list showed firming tendencies for a time in the morning, but advances were largely lost as the session wore on. Weakness again cropped out in some of the Insull issues.

Commonwealth Edison broke sharply, along with Peoples Gas on the big board. It closed at 54, off 9½, and 1½ above the day's low. Electric Bond and Share advanced a fraction, then reacted to close off ½. United Light "A" was firm.

Oils were mixed. Humble dropped 3 points to a new low at 39¾. Gulf lost a point. Standard of Indiana, however, was steady, and Kentucky mounted a fraction. Cities Service closed at 5, off 1-8.

ium scented bath crystals for her birthday. It was her favorite scent. If everything had irked her on the homeward ride now everything seemed suddenly right. How lucky it was that her flowered chiffon, her only "party" dress worthy of the name, had been returned from the cleaners the day before! How lucky it was she had washed her hair Monday night! How lucky she was to have a natural wave, intensified by the summer heat so that all she had to do was press her fingers into the little ridges to make her head a dark, shining, cap of undulation!

SHE was ready long before seven o'clock. While she waited she began to feel the agitation of a diver about to take the great plunge. Her mind revolved in busy whirligigs. What if Aunt Jessie should happen in without warning? What if Mrs. McLeod who always watched the goings and comings of the neighborhood from behind her starched curtains should spread the rumor that Susan Carey was becoming "fast?" Susan shuddered. To be "fast" in the little community where she lived was to be quite beyond the pole. Although Chicago is a metropolis, in its neighborhood groups there exists much of the spirit of the average small town.

Susan's reverie was interrupted by the sharp peal of the door bell. She caught up her gloves in a flurry and for the hundredth time wished she had a proper summer evening wrap instead of the wretched old black coat from last season. She opened the door with fingers that shook a little.

There he stood, seeming taller than usual, and, as always, perfectly turned out.

Susan closed the door of the cottage primly behind her. Aunt Jessie had always told her that a lady never receives a gentleman at home alone. Waring smiled suddenly as if he caught the reason for her abrupt gesture.

"I won't bite, you know," he said with mild raillery and Susan went scarlet. It was annoying to be so transparent.

As she ran down the steps with her escort she forgot everything in her sudden surprise. There, jauntily perched in the rumble seat, a jaded looking young man at her side, sat Ray Flannery.

"Hello," chirped Ray. "I'm starving. Let's step on it!"

Smallest Opening Crowd In 15 Years Braves Cold Weather

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—Twelve thousand spectators, the smallest crowd to see an opening game here in 15 years or more, braved cold weather to see the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 6 to 5 in an 11-inning battle at Navin Field.

Wes Fessell, young Indian pitcher, gave the Tigers 14 hits in the eleven innings but Porter's single in the eleventh, coupled with Hodapp's sacrifice and a single by Averill, gave the Indians the run that won the ball game.

Vic Sorrell pitched eight innings for Detroit and was relieved by Elon Hogsett, who was charged with losing the game.

SMITH REFERS TO GOVERNOR AS DEMOGOGIC

compromise wet plank a constitutional amendment to permit a later direct vote by the people on prohibition retention, repeal or modification.

Smith later stuck to his play for a states' rights plank allowing states to remain wet or dry as they chose, but he said he was "glad to hear from Virginia" on the question.

Turning to Byrd he brought laughter when he said the "Scriptures tell us the prodigal son returns."

No Demagogues Wanted

"This is no time for demagogues," Smith said after quoting several phrases of Roosevelt's radio speech. Roosevelt had referred to a federal bond issue for public works expansion as only a "stopgap," a proposal which Smith re-advanced tonight.

"Whoever said it was anything else?" Smith asked, adding it was time something else besides criticism were indulged in by party spokesmen.

Other speakers were Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, who had a crowd of native wellwishers in the audience, and former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, the toastmaster.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was to have spoken, but he found at the last minute he could not attend.

A New Slogan

Chairman Raskob brought laughter and applause when he said the Republican slogan "is to be 'don't change toboggans while going down the slide.'"

Cox caused a flutter when he referred to Virginia as the "mother of presidents" and then introduced former Governor Byrd as "Ex-Governor Richard Byrd," the statesman's explorer-brother.

Raskob branded as a "malicious attempt to defeat the purpose of the party's 'victory fund' drive" rumors that it was to "further the candidacy of a particular candidate."

He said 20,000 workers were now engaged in a militant campaign to put the $1,500,000 drive over the top by convention time.

Construction of a plant for the production of commercial potash salts has been started in the area of the Dead sea.

Butchers and Bakers Prepare For Battle

The Butchers and the Bakers are already getting warmed up for their annual kitten ball classic, which promises to be one of the hottest battles of the season in Escanaba. The date of the contest will be announced later.

Charles Gafner, manager of the meat chopping gang, is rounding up former teammates, which include Peter Nolden, Mike Walch and other diamond luminaries. The Dough Mixers are forming a formidable aggregation, with the old stand-bys, Kress, Fred Hoyler, Gunkel and Beggs, already doing road work and taking steam baths in order to get into the pink of condition for the gruelling encounter with the Butcher boys.

any consideration.

Three candidates were mentioned for lieutenant governor. were: Martin Bradley, Menominee; Prentiss M. Brown, St. Ignace, and Frank J. Sawyer, of Grand Blanc.

There was evidence the regular convention tomorrow will bind its candidates, whoever they may be, to an anti-prohibition platform if remarks of every speaker could be interpreted as constituting the wishes of the delegates.

Picard Is Keynoter

Picard, in his keynote address, declared it is up to the Democratic party to lead the state and nation away from prohibition and depression. He described Governor Wilber M. Brucker as "the driest governor we ever had," and said "we cannot achieve repeal of prohibition by electing dry men to office."

"I predict the Republican candidate for governor this year will run on a moist platform," he said, and added: "If either Herbert Hoover or Governor Brucker runs on a platform built on anything but the Sahara desert, I agree with Dr. Clarence True Wilson he will be a Judas to the dry cause."

His remarks drew applause from the delegates.

He charged the Republican party with helping to wreck Michigan industries and urged the election of a congress which will not force manufacturers to build factories abroad because of improper tariff regulations. Michigan, above all other states, should go Democratic this year, he said.

Name Delegates Today

With the selection of a state slate out of the way, or as far out of the way as could be done, the delegates turned their attention to tomorrow's selection of delegates to the national convention and to instructing that delegation.

A fight was brewing as to both personnel of national convention candidates and instructions. Mayor Frank Murphy, Detroit, is a candidate for election as delegate at large. He favors unequivocal instruction for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the presidential nomination.

While a majority of Michigan Democrats openly favor Roosevelt, an anti-Murphy group was attempting to sidetrack instruction for him. This group also hopes to keep Murphy off the national convention delegation.

The convention tomorrow, for the election of eight delegates at large, each with half a vote. Two delegates also will be named from each of the 17 congressional districts. Indications were a compromise resolution may be adopted instructing the delegation to vote for Roosevelt "as long as he has a chance."

Among those busily at work in opposition to instruction for Roosevelt were Judge William Connelly, of Detroit, and friends of Comstock. Many of them admitted it was a fight against Murphy and not a protest against Roosevelt.

Women Democrats met and endorsed Evelyn Mershon, Saginaw; Agnes Little, Detroit, Jesse Porter, Marshall, and Mrs. Minnie Kaltenburg, St. Joseph, as delegates at large.

Many Attend

The convention is the best attended in years. Old timers in the Democratic ranks expressed amazement at the number of Democrats they never had seen. They attributed the attendance to a conviction within the party ranks that this is a winning year.

Tonight delegates and guests crowded the largest auditorium in town for a Jefferson day dinner. Speakers were U. S. Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma; Dr. Edgar De Witt Jones, Detroit, and Rep. Michael J. Hart, of the eighth district.

While the Democrats were belaboring prohibition, the Saginaw county Republican convention, meeting a few doors away, adopted a resolution favoring a referendum on the issue. Governor Brucker attended the Republican meeting but took no part in the prohibition discussion.

COLD WEATHER REDUCES CROWD

Henie Manush Star Again on Second Day Of Ball Season

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Wrtier)

New York, April 13 (AP)—Heinie Manush, veteran Washington outfielder who took most of the glory of the first game of the major league season Monday, repeated his act today to win the honors of the second full day o. the 1932 campaign.

Manush came up in the ninth inning today with two men on base and his team two runs behind, and he promptly poked one of Jack Russell's offerings out of the field for a home run that gave the Senators a 7 to 6 victory. An error by Hal Rhyne paved the way for the winning clout and spoiled Russell's well-pitched game.

On Monday it was Manush's double in the tenth that won, 1 to 0, for Washington.

Cold Hurts Attendance

Chilly weather struck another blow at major league hopes for big crowds and only about 17,000 fans turned out in the two cities which held their openings today. At Boston only 5,000 were on hand to see Manush's climatic clout and at Detroit about 12,000 were present to see the Cleveland Indians take a 6 to 5 decision from the Tigers in eleven innings. Added to yesterday's 117,000, this brought the tota. for eight major league openings to 134,000, far below what was expected.

Detroit combed Wesley Ferrell for 14 hits but tossed away the advantage by making five errors. Singles by Porter and Averill in the eleventh, coupled with a sacrifice, brought the winning run.

The Chicago White Sox kept pace with the Senators, sharing the American League for what may be the last time, as they won their second straight game from the St. Louis Browns. The score was 7 to 3. The Browns made 12 hits off Tommy Thomas but the Sox bunched their nine off Coffman and Cooney in two three-run innings.

National Games Close

Close struggles were in order in the two National League games that survived cold weather. Pat Malone checked the Cincinnati Reds with six hits and five strikeouts in a duel with Owen Carroll and the Chicago Cubs evened the series with a 3 to 2 victory. George Grantham, Cincinnati second baseman, injured his left ankle in the sixth while going after Gudat's drive and had to be carried from the field.

Pittsburgh's Pirates slammed over three runs in the ninth inning to take an 8-4 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in a loosely played game but the world's champions came right back with five tallies to win, 9 to 8.

County Conventions Endorse Rushton

and sheriff's deputies were called, when conflicting forces attempted to hold separate conventions in the same hall. The disorder was quelled by threats of officers to use tear gas. "Regular" and "rump" conventions elected separate sets of delegates, each of which will submit its case to the credentials committee at the state convention April 27 in Grand Rapids.

Brucker's Foes Control

In Detroit, forces opposed to Governor Wilber M. Brucker gained control and elected John Gillespie chairman over Senator Fred W. Harding. Gillespie announced that Attorney Edward N. Barnard would head Wayne county's 334 delegates to the state convention.

In Wayne and Macomb counties anti-prohibition sentiment predominated. The Mt. Clemens convention demanded repeal of state and national prohibition laws and andorsed "any coming state administration" that will favor prohibition repeal and foster economy. Immediate payment of the soldier bonus also was advocated. The Detroit convention contended itself with a demand for referendum on the state and national prohibition amendments.

The Bay county convention adopted a resolution asking submission of the eighteenth amendment to a vote, while the Saginaw county convention unanimously adopted a resolution proposing resubmission of the prohibition amendment to the constitutional conventions of the various states.

Administration Endorsed

Endorsement of the national administration was given, among others, by conventions in Kent, Mecosta, Grand Traverse, Muskegon, Ingham, Emmet, St. Clair, Hillsdale, Wexford, Saginaw, Bay, Branch, Eaton and Shiawassee counties. In all of those counties but Muskegon and Grand Traverse endorsement also was given Governor Wilber M. Brucker.

The Muskegon convention sidestepped efforts to secure an endorsement of the state administration. Grand Traverse and Benzie county conventions ignored the state administration from their endorsements. Delegates explained that suspicion had arisen that Governor Brucker has aligned with Wayne and Kent counties in highway matters, against the interests of the northern counties.

In most of the counties, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg was endorsed for renomination and election.

The outcome of the conventions was interpreted as giving assurance Michigan's 43 delegates to the Republican national convention would be instructed for Hoover at the state convention.

McDermott is Good Prospect For Olympics

(Editor's Note: Upper Peninsula sport fans will remember Verne McDermott as the University of Illinois pole vaulter who performed at the U. P. Relays in Escanaba last spring. McDermott appeared in exhibition here along with Lee Sentman, hurdler, and Chuck Werner, hurdler and coach.)

If there's an event in which the United States is practically sure to win an Olympic championship this summer, it's the pole vault. Any foreign nation that breaks in on Uncle Sam's pole-climbing monopoly will be counted extremely lucky.

Not the best, perhaps, but one of half a dozen top flight vaulters the United States can send against the invaders is Verne McDermott, former University of Illinois track captain. He's on the coast now, preparing for the international contests and competing in the colors of the Los Angeles Athletics Club.

During three years of varsity competition at Illinois McDermott was Western Conference outdoor vaulting champion, or runner-up. His duels with Warne of Northwestern were highlights of three straight Big Ten campaigns. They tied for the championship as sophomores, setting a new record of 13 feet 7 inches. McDermott won the honor alone in 1930 by creating a new height of 13 feet 10 3-8 inches, which record stands today. Warne wrested the title in 1931 on a vault of 13 feet 9 11-16 inches, with McDermott and Beecher, of Indiana, deadlocked in second place one notch lower on the standards.

McDermott is a product of the Harry Gill school, a track coach many consider the greatest in the game. Gill brought his ace around to 13-6 as a sophomore and kept him at that level, or better, for three years. Mac lost frequently during that time, but he also won with great regularity. Best of all, he was always good for 13½ feet.

There probably will be some who will out-vault McDermott at Los Angeles this summer. In doing it, however, Uncle Sam will be getting efforts close to world record heights.

Ecuadoran Naval Mutiny Is Ended

Guayaquil, Ecuador, April 12 (AP)—The revolt of the Ecuadorean navy was ended today.

The entire navy consisting of the gunboats Cotopaxi and Tarqui, were recovered during the night and the mutineers who seized them in Guayaquil harbor last week were captured in a short engagement.

In the encounter one officer of the navy, Major Guillermo Quinonez, a captive aboard the Cotopaxi, was killed by a cannon ball.

During the fighting the Tarqui was hit by a cannon ball which stopped its machinery, and proved a deciding factor in the battle.

General Idlefonso Mendoza, leader of the revolt, was captured in the boiler room of the Cotopaxi.

MALONE HURLS BRUINS TO WIN

Reds Hit Ball Hard but Cubs Eke Out Victory, 3 to 2

Cincinnati, April 13 (AP)—Slugging tactics by the Cincinnati Reds could not overcome Malone today and the Chicago Cub pitcher walked off with a 3 to 2 victory.

The Reds bunched a double, a single and a triple in the fourth to jump into the lead but Malone kept them under cover thereafter while his teammates pecked at Carroll for hits that gave them the winning run in the eighth on two singles.

Grid Coach Not Overpaid—Yost

Washington, April 13, (AP)—Any idea that football coaches generally draw big salaries was labelled a myth by Fielding H. Yost, veteran director of athletics at the University of Michigan, in testimony before a senate committee today.

"The average coach's salary in America," he said, "is less than $3,000 a year."

He added that the coach's job is perhaps the most uncertain one in the world on which to attempt to raise a family.

"Except the politician's," remarked Senator Reed of Pennsylvania.

Yost opposed taxing school and college sports admissions.

Grantham Injured In Red-Cub Game

Cincinnati, April 13, (AP)—George Grantham, Cincinnati second baseman, was injured today when he wrenched his left foot in the sixth inning of today's game between the Reds and Cubs. He was carried from the field and his place taken by Andy High, former member of the Cardinals.

LONDOS TRIUMPHS

Syracuse, N. Y., April 13 (AP)—Jim Londos successfully defended his wrestling title here tonight, downing Tiny Roebuck with a body slam after 25 minutes. Londos weighed 200 and Roebuck 248.

Milt Bernar and Jack Smith of Chicago, drew in 20 minutes.

American League Taboos Zebra Bat

Chicago, April 13 (AP)—Standing on the unwritten law of baseball that a bat shall be of natural wood, and the belief that it would be neither wise nor profitable to let the game get too "batty," President Harridge of the American league today ruled out the camouflage or zebra bat.

President Harridge did this at a conference with Illis Johnson, secretary of the St. Louis Browns, who devised the war club, and "Goose" Goslin, who carried it to the plate in the opening game of the season here yesterday, only to have it thrown out by the umpires.

Johnson readily agreed with President Harridge that it came under the head of trickery, which the league frowned on when it eliminated the white web in the pitcher's glove, the slitting of a pitcher's sleeve and the hidden-ball trick.

ONLY 12,000 SEE CONTEST

Smallest Opening Crowd In 15 Years Braves Cold Weather

Detroit, April 13 (AP)—Twelve thousand spectators, the smallest crowd to see an opening game here in 15 years or more, braved cold weather to see the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 6 to 5 in an 11-inning battle at Navin Field.

Wes Fessell, young Indian pitcher, gave the Tigers 14 hits in the eleven innings but Porter's single in the eleventh, coupled with Hodapp's sacrifice and a single by Averill, gave the Indians the run that won the ball game.

Vic Sorrell pitched eight innings for Detroit and was relieved by Elon Hogsett, who was charged with losing the game.

compromise wet plank a constitutional amendment to permit a later direct vote by the people on prohibition retention, repeal or modification.

Smith later stuck to his play for a states' rights plank allowing states to remain wet or dry as they chose, but he said he was "glad to hear from Virginia" on the question.

Turning to Byrd he brought laughter when he said the "Scriptures tell us the prodigal son returns."

No Demagogues Wanted

"This is no time for demagogues," Smith said after quoting several phrases of Roosevelt's radio speech. Roosevelt had referred to a federal bond issue for public works expansion as only a "stopgap," a proposal which Smith re-advanced tonight.

"Whoever said it was anything else?" Smith asked, adding it was time something else besides criticism were indulged in by party spokesmen.

Other speakers were Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, who had a crowd of native well-wishers in the audience, and former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio, the toastmaster.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois was to have spoken, but he found at the last minute he could not attend.

A New Slogan

Chairman Raskob brought laughter and applause when he said the Republican slogan "is to be 'don't change toboggans while going down the slide.'"

Cox caused a flutter when he referred to Virginia as the "mother of presidents" and then introduced former Governor Byrd as "Ex-Governor Richard Byrd," the statesman's explorer-brother.

Raskob branded as a "malicious attempt to defeat the purpose of the party's 'victory fund' drive" rumors that it was to "further the candidacy of a particular candidate."

He said 20,000 workers were now engaged in a militant campaign to put the $1,500,000 drive over the top by convention time.

Butchers and Bakers Prepare For Battle

The Butchers and the Bakers are already getting warmed up for their annual kitten ball classic, which promises to be one of the hottest battles of the season in Escanaba. The date of the contest will be announced later.

Charles Gafner, manager of the meat chopping gang, is rounding up former teammates, which include Peter Nolden, Mike Walch and other diamond luminaries. The Dough Mixers are forming a formidable aggregation, with the old stand-bys, Kress, Fred Hoyler, Gunkel and Beggs, already doing road work and taking steam baths in order to get into the pink of condition for the gruelling encounter with the Butcher boys.

STATE DEMOS CANNOT AGREE ON CANDIDATE

any consideration.

Three candidates were mentioned for lieutenant governor. were: Martin Bradley, Menominee; Prentiss M. Brown, St. Ignace, and Frank J. Sawyer, of Grand Blanc.

There was evidence the regular convention tomorrow will bind its candidates, whoever they may be, to an anti-prohibition platform if remarks of every speaker could be interpreted as constituting the wishes of the delegates.

Picard Is Keynoter

Picard, in his keynote address, declared it is up to the Democratic party to lead the state and nation away from prohibition and depression. He described Governor Wilber M. Brucker as "the driest governor we ever had," and said "we cannot achieve repeal of prohibition by electing dry men to office."

"I predict the Republican candidate for governor this year will run on a moist platform," he said, and added "If either Herbert Hoover or Governor Brucker runs on a platform built on anything but the Sahara desert, I agree with Dr. Clarence True Wilson he will be a Judas to the dry cause."

His remarks drew applause from the delegates.

He charged the Republican party with helping to wreck Michigan industries and urged the election of a congress which will not force manufacturers to build factories abroad because of improper tariff regulations. Michigan above all other states, should go Democratic this year he said.

Name Delegates Today

With the selection of a state state out of the way or as far out of the way as could be done, the delegates turned their attention to tomorrow's selection of delegates to the national convention and to instructing that delegation.

A fight was brewing as to both personnel of national convention candidates and instructions. Mayor Frank Murphy, Detroit, is a candidate for election as delegate at large. He favors unequivocal instruction for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the presidential nomination.

While a majority of Michigan Democrats openly favor Roosevelt, an anti-Murphy group was attempting to sidetrack instruction for him. This group also hopes to keep Murphy off the national convention delegation.

The convention tomorrow, for the election of eight delegates at large, each with half a vote. Two delegates also will be named from each of the 17 congressional districts. Indications were a compromise resolution may be adopted instructing the delegation to vote for Roosevelt "as long as he has a chance."

Among those busily at work in opposition to instruction for Roosevelt were Judge William Connelly, of Detroit, and friends of Comstock. Many of them admitted it was a fight against Murphy and not a protest against Roosevelt.

Women Democrats met and endorsed Evelyn Mershon, Saginaw; Agnes Little, Detroit, Jessie Porter, Marshall, and Mrs. Minnie Kaltenburg, St. Joseph, as delegates at large.

Many Attend

The convention is the best attended in years. Old timers in the Democratic ranks expressed amazement at the number of Democrats they never had seen. They attributed the attendance to a conviction within the party ranks that this is a winning year.

Tonight delegates and guests crowded the largest auditorium in town for a Jefferson day dinner. Speakers were U. S. Senator Thomas P. Gore, of Oklahoma; Dr. Edgar De Witt Jones, Detroit, and Rep. Michael J. Hart, of the eighth district.

While the Democrats were belaboring prohibition, the Saginaw county Republican convention, meeting a few doors away, adopted a resolution favoring a referendum on the issue. Governor Brucker attended the Republican meeting but took no part in the prohibition discussion.

COLD WEATHER REDUCES CROWD

Henie Manush Star Again on Second Day Of Ball Season

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Wrtier)

New York, April 13 (AP) Heinie Manush, veteran Washington outfielder who took most of the glory of the first game of the major league season Monday, repeated his act today to win the honors of the second full day of the 1932 campaign.

Manush came up in the ninth inning today with two men on base and his team two runs behind, and he promptly poked one of Jack Russell's offerings out of the field for a home run that gave the Senators a 7 to 6 victory. An error by Hal Rhyne paved the way for the winning clout and spoiled Russell's well-pitched game.

On Monday it was Manush's double in the tenth that won, 1 to 0, for Washington.

Cold Hurts Attendance

Chilly weather struck another blow at major league hopes for big crowds and only about 17,000 fans turned out in the two cities which held their openings today. At Boston only 5,000 were on hand to see Manush's climatic clout and at Detroit about 12,000 were present to see the Cleveland Indians take a 6 to 5 decision from the Tigers in eleven innings. Added to yesterday's 117,000, this brought the total for eight major league openings to 134,000, far below what was expected.

Detroit combed Wesley Ferrell for 14 hits but tossed away the advantage by making five errors. Singles by Porter and Averill in the eleventh, coupled with a sacrifice, brought the winning run.

The Chicago White Sox kept pace with the Senators, sharing the American League for what may be the last time, as they won their second straight game from the St. Louis Browns. The score was 7 to 3. The Browns made 12 hits off Tommy Thomas but the Sox bunched their nine off Coffman and Cooney in two three-run innings.

National Games Close

Close struggles were in order in the two National League games that survived cold weather. Pat Malone checked the Cincinnati Reds with six hits and five strikeouts in a duel with Owen Carroll and the Chicago Cubs evened the series with a 3 to 2 victory. George Grantham Cincinnati second baseman, injured his left ankle in the sixth while going after Gudat's drive and had to be carried from the field.

Pittsburgh's Pirates slammed over three runs in the ninth inning to take an 8-4 lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in a loosely played game but the world's champions came right back with five tallies to win 9 to 8.

and sheriff's deputies were called, when conflicting forces attempted to hold separate conventions in the same hall. The disorder was quelled by threats of officers to use tear gas. "Regular" and "rump" conventions elected separate sets of delegates, each of which will submit its case to the credentials committee at the state convention April 27 in Grand Rapids.

Brucker's Foes Control

In Detroit forces opposed to Governor Wilber M. Brucker gained control and elected John Gillespie chairman over Senator Fred W Harding. Gillespie announced that Attorney Edward N Barnard would head Wayne county's 334 delegates to the state convention.

In Wayne and Macomb counties anti-prohibition sentiment predominated. The Mt. Clemens convention demanded repeal of state and national prohibition laws and endorsed "any coming state administration" that will favor prohibition repeal and foster economy. Immediate payment of the soldier bonus also was advocated. The Detroit convention contended itself with a demand for referendum on the state and national prohibition amendments.

The Bay county convention adopted a resolution asking submission of the eighteenth amendment to a vote, while the Saginaw county convention unanimously adopted a resolution proposing resubmission of the prohibition amendment to the constitutional conventions of the various states.

Administration Endorsed

Endorsement of the national administration was given, among others, by conventions in Kent, Mecosta, Grand Traverse, Muskegon, Ingham, Emmet, St. Clair, Hillsdale, Wexford, Saginaw, Bay, Branch, Eaton and Shiawassee counties. In all of those counties but Muskegon and Grand Traverse endorsement also was given Governor Wilber M. Brucker.

The Muskegon convention sidestepped efforts to secure an endorsement of the state administration. Grand Traverse and Benzie county conventions ignored the state administration from their endorsements. Delegates explained that suspicion had arisen that Governor Brucker has aligned with Wayne and Kent counties in highway matters, against the interests of the northern counties.

In most of the counties, Senator Arthur H Vandenberg was endorsed for renomination and election.

The outcome of the conventions was interpreted as giving assurance Michigan's 43 delegates to the Republican national convention would be instructed for Hoover at the state convention.

McDermott is Good Prospect For Olympics

VERNE McDERMOTT

(Editor's Note: Upper Peninsula sport fans will remember Verne McDermott as the University of Illinois pole vaulter who performed at the U. P. Relays in Escanaba last spring. McDermott appeared in exhibition here along with Lee Sentman, hurdler, and Chuck Werner, hurdler and coach.)

If there's an event in which the United States is practically sure to win an Olympic championship this summer, it's the pole vault. Any foreign nation that breaks in on Uncle Sam's pole-climbing monopoly will be counted extremely lucky.

Not the best, perhaps, but one of half a dozen top flight vaulters the United States can send against the invaders is Verne McDermott, former University of Illinois track captain. He's on the coast now, preparing for the international contests and competing in the colors of the Los Angeles Athletics Club.

During three years of varsity competition at Illinois McDermott was Western Conference outdoor vaulting champion, or runner-up. His duels with Warne of Northwestern were highlights of three straight Big Ten campaigns. They tied for the championship as sophomores, setting a new record of 13 feet 7 inches. McDermott won the honor alone in 1930 by creating a new height of 13 feet 10 3-8 inches, which record stands today. Warne wrested the title in 1931 on a vault of 13 feet 9 11-16 inches, with McDermott and Beecher, of Indiana, deadlocked in second place one notch lower on the standards.

McDermott is a product of the Harry Gill school, a track coach many consider the greatest in the game. Gill brought his ace around to 13-6 as a sophomore and kept him at that level, or better, for three years. Mac lost frequently during that time, but he also won with great regularity. Best of all, he was always good for 13½ feet.

There probably will be some who will out-vault McDermott at Los Angeles this summer. In doing it, however, Uncle Sam will be getting efforts close to world record heights.

Ecuadoran Naval Mutiny Is Ended

Guayaquil, Ecuador, April 12 (AP) The revolt of the Ecuadoran navy was ended today.

The entire navy consisting of the gunboats Cotopaxi and Tarqui, were recovered during the night and the mutineers who seized them in Guayaquil harbor last week were captured in a short engagement.

In the encounter one officer of the navy, Major Guillermo Quinonez, a captive aboard the Cotopaxi, was killed by a cannon ball.

During the fighting the Tarqui was hit by a cannon ball which stopped its machinery, and proved a deciding factor in the battle.

General Idlefonso Mendoza, leader of the revolt, was captured in the boiler room of the Cotopaxi.

Reds Hit Ball Hard but Cubs Eke Out Victory, 3 to 2

Cincinnati, April 13 (AP) Slugging tactics by the Cincinnati Reds could not overcome Malone today and the Chicago Cub pitcher walked off with a 3 to 2 victory.

The Reds bunched a double, a single and a triple in the fourth to jump into the lead but Malone kept them under cover thereafter while his teammates pecked at Carroll for hits that gave them the winning run in the eighth on two singles.

Grid Coach Not Overpaid—Yost

Washington, April 13, (AP)—Any idea that football coaches generally draw big salaries was labelled a myth by Fielding H. Yost, veteran director of athletics at the University of Michigan, in testimony before a senate committee today.

"The average coach's salary in America," he said, "is less than $3,000 a year."

He added that the coach's job is perhaps the most uncertain one in the world on which to attempt to raise a family.

"Except the politician's," remarked Senator Reed of Pennsylvania.

Yost opposed taxing school and college sports admissions.

Grantham Injured In Red-Cub Game

Cincinnati, April 13 (AP) George Grantham, Cincinnati second baseman, was injured today when he wrenched his left foot in the sixth inning of today's game between the Reds and Cubs. He was carried from the field and his place taken by Andy High, former member of the Cardinals.

LONDOS TRIUMPHS

Syracuse, N. Y., April 13 (AP) Jim Londos successfully defended his wrestling title here tonight, downing Tiny Roebuck with a body slam after 25 minutes. Londos weighed 200 and Roebuck 248.

Milt Bernar and Jack Smith of Chicago, drew in 20 minutes.

American League Taboos Zebra Bat

Chicago, April 13 (AP)—Standing on the unwritten law of baseball that a bat shall be of natural wood, and the belief that it would be neither wise nor profitable to let the game get too "batty," President Harridge of the American league today ruled out the camouflage or zebra bat.

President Harridge did this at a conference with Illis Johnson, secretary of the St. Louis Browns, who devised the war club, and "Goose" Goslin, who carried it to the plate in the opening game of the season here yesterday, only to have it thrown out by the umpires.

Johnson readily agreed with President Harridge that it came under the head of trickery, which the league frowned on when it eliminated the white web in the pitcher's glove, the slitting of a pitcher's sleeve and the hidden-ball trick.

ROADS IN U. P. ARE IMPROVED

Automobiles Traveling Over Powers Detour Without Tow

General improvement in highway conditions in the upper peninsula, following the spring break-up, was reported by J. T. Sharpensteen, division highway engineer, last night.

All the roads are open to traffic, and in very few instances yesterday was it necessary to call teams or tractors into service to tow automobiles over the bad stretches.

A rumor to the effect that the detour at Powers was impassable was emphatically denied by Mr. Sharpensteen last night. Automobiles were going over both the north and south bound detours at this point yesterday under their own power, although the traveling was slow. Both detours, which are about two miles in length, can be crossed over in from eight to twelve minutes, when moving at a safe rate of speed.

Maple Grove, Osier And Fayette Name Spelling Champs

Maple Grove school in Bark River township, Osier school in Maple Ridge township and the Fayette school in Fairbanks township have picked their champions to represent them in the finals of the second Escanaba Daily Press spelling bee to be held here April 30.

Victor Wienckowski, 14, son of Stanley Wienckowski, of Perronville was the senior winner in Maple Grove school. He is in the eighth grade. Edward Piekutowski was second and Genevieve Adydan third. Edward stumbled on the word "attitude" spelling it "attitide," and Genevieve missed the word "journal" spelling it "journel."

Miss Charlotte Seymour, the teacher at Maple Grove, reports that before joining the bee her pupils never seemed to enjoy spelling, but now that all of the spellers are interested and aroused.

Senior winner at the Osier school was Esther Clabbots, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabbots, Trenary, a seventh grader. Esther stumbled on the word "existing" spelling it "exhisting," but not until she had spelled down Evelyn Juneau and Lillian Chenial, who placed second and third. Evelyn failed on "electrical" and Lillian missed "development."

Lloyd Clabbots, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabbots and a brother of the senior winner, was the junior titlist. He defeated Orrile Chenial and Alphonse Cayer for the honor. Miss Elaine Johnson who teaches here reports that all her pupils, both junior and senior, took great interest in the event, and expressed a wish that the contest be continued each year.

William Geniessee, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Geniessee of Fayette, won the senior championship of the Fayette school. He is an eighth grader. Second place was won by Allan Follo, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Follo, of Fayette. He is also an eighth grader.

The junior winner was Hal Smith, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, and second place was won by Evelyn Dalgord, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hullie Dalgord. Both are fourth graders. Marie C. Maxwell teaches at the Fayette school.

The casket was borne to and from the funeral car by Herbert Williams, John Crawford, Milton Williams, Fred Nesbit, John and Earl Paulo. Interment was made at Riverside.

The funeral was largely attended, and many relatives and friends of the deceased from Cedar River and Ingallston came to the city to attend the final obsequies. Among the out-of-town relatives were: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Williams, Escanaba; Mrs. William Bresnahan, Green Bay, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hayward of Koss.

DAVID J. DEVINE

Ishpeming—David J. Devine, lifelong resident of this city, shot and killed himself Monday night in a shed at his home. Mr. Devine, who had been in poor health for the last year, used a .22 calibre rifle to take his life. Coroner William Prin, who decided that no inquest would be held, said that the rifle was lying near the body and that there was a bullet hole in the man's head.

The deceased, who was 50 years old, was born in Ishpeming and had been in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining company for the past 34 years. He entered the employ of the company as a surface laborer in April, 1898, and in November, 1905, became assistant in the warehouse and in February, 1906, he was made chief warehouseman for the company, a position he held ever since.

He leaves his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Charles Caron and Miss Grace Devine, and two sons, Roland and John Devine, all residents of Ishpeming. He also leaves one grandson and a brother, Thomas Devine.

He was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ishpeming fire department, under the auspices of which the funeral will be held this morning.

State Can't List Best Fishing Spots

Local conservation officers are always glad to give fishermen advice as to good places to fish, but the department of conservation at its Lansing office does not have prepared maps indicating lakes and streams and the species of fish for which they are best known. The department is constantly receiving requests for such maps and is unable to furnish them.

Local information may be obtained from Chambers of Commerce, Tourist and Resort Associations, and frequently from the members or officials of sportsmen's and Izaak Walton League organizations in recreational areas.

George S. Bond, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighing 125 pounds, and W. P. Fullinfiim, 6 feet 6, weight 275, were opposing candidates for county judge at Crosbyton, Tex.

Junior High School Will Pick Spelling Champion On Friday

The spelling championship of the junior high school will be decided in a contest to be held at the William W. Oliver auditorium Friday afternoon, beginning at 2:10 o'clock. The winner will enter the grand championship event to be held Saturday, April 30.

Fourteen home room champions of the seventh and eighth grades will compete Friday. They are: section 8-1, Gerald Johnson; 8-2, Elaine Richter; 8-3, Bernice Welter; 8-4, Robert Olson; 8-5, George Strom; 8-6, Lorraine Hedsten; 7-1, Charles Semer; 7-2 Richard Hoyler; 7-3, Flora Froelich; 7-4, Edward Reynolds; 7-5, Woodrow Labumbard; 7-6, Cecil Chase; 7-7, Alice Ferrari; and 7-8, Betty Voght.

Four English teachers, the Misses Margaret Dwyer, Agnes Burke, Virginia Hulbert and Lilian Perkins, will serve as judges. John A. Lemmer, principal of the senior high school, will pronounce the words in the bee.

Edward Fuqua In Oratory Contest At Ishpeming May 6

Edward Fuqua, Escanaba high school orator who won the sub district oratorical contest at Manistique, will be a contestant for the upper peninsula district championship at the district oratorical and declamatory contest to be held on May 6 at Ishpeming. Fuqua's oration is "In Terms of Humanity."

The contest at Ishpeming will be for the winners in oratory and declamation in the six sub-districts of the peninsula. R. W. Jackson of Munising is the district chairman.

Cudlip Named Chief

Iron Mountain—Sam Cudlip, member of the city water commission since its organization in 1924, with the exception of a period of one year during the Sutherland administration, was named president of the board, succeeding Cyril Nault, and Nault was named secretary, in place of Ralph Bruno, at last night's regular meeting. Both appointments are effective April 16, 1932.

The salary of the secretary, according to action taken last night, will remain at $300 a year.

ing several times. A few steps farther at the street corner he met another man and an exchange of papers took place.

The first man also made several notes on a piece of paper. He then retraced his steps and rang the door bell at the Condon home, speaking briefly with Dr. Condon's friend and bodyguard, Al Reich, one time boxer. He then entered his car and drove away while the man he met at the corner entered another car and departed.

The license number of the closed car showed it to be the property of a publishing company.

Dr. Condon returned to his home shortly after 9 o'clock tonight.

"Get off my property," he said to a group of outsiders which had closed about the entrance to his home, "I don't know you. I don't know who you are. You might be the kidnapers."

As he brushed past the group he made a gesture toward his right hand pocket which was interpreted by some as a determination to use force if his request was not met.

Schoeffel in Vienna

Another phase of the private search for the baby came into prominence when police admitted that John Hughes Curtis, one of the Norfolk, Va., trio of intermediaries, had visited Col. Lindbergh again yesterday. Both he and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, his associate, saw Col. Lindbergh Monday. Announcement of their visit was made at Norfolk by the third member of the trio, the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock.

Major Charles H. Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police unexpectedly arrived in Vienna on the secret mission connected with the case which took him abroad several weeks ago.

A man giving the name of D. D. Dickerson of New York was detained at St. Thomas, Ontario, when police found he had letters addressed to the Lindberghs. He explained he merely was sending suggestions for locating the child and the importance of this development appeared negligible.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police were asked to aid in apprehending Harry Fleischer, Detroit gangster long sought for questioning and now believed to be seeking to board a ship for abroad, possibly from Halifax, N. S.

A mystery message saying the child was aboard a boat at a certain point in New Jersey proved to be another erroneous 'tip' upon investigation.

Prof. Muyskens Assembly Speaker At Senior High

Professor John H. Muyskens, assistant professor in Phonetics at the University of Michigan, who addressed the Escanaba Rotary club, the Escanaba Woman's club and the Escanaba Business and Professional Woman's club yesterday, will speak at a special assembly at the Senior high school this morning. The subject of his talk at the high school will be "Changing Viewpoints and Education."

Roald Schou, editor-in-chief of The Escanaban, will be the chairman of the assembly.

Because a large number of the people who heard Professor Muyskens speak on Wednesday have expressed a desire to hear him again, the special assembly at the high school will be open to the public and all who are interested are invited to attend. The assembly will be at 9:15 o'clock this morning.

ROADS IN U. P. ARE IMPROVED

Automobiles Traveling Over Powers Detour Without Tow

General improvement in highway conditions in the upper peninsula, following the spring break-up, was reported by J. T. Sharpensteen, division highway engineer, last night.

All the roads are open to traffic, and in very few instances yesterday was it necessary to call teams or tractors into service to tow automobiles over the bad stretches.

A rumor to the effect that the detour at Powers was impassable was emphatically denied by Mr. Sharpensteen last night. Automobiles were going over both the north and south bound detours at this point yesterday under their own power, although the traveling was slow. Both detours, which are about two miles in length, can be crossed over in from eight to twelve minutes, when moving at a safe rate of speed.

Maple Grove, Osier And Fayette Name Spelling Champs

Maple Grove school in Bark River township, Osier school in Maple Ridge township and the Fayette school in Fairbanks township have picked their champions to represent them in the finals of the second Escanaba Daily Press spelling bee to be held here April 30.

Victor Wienckowski, 14, son of Stanley Wienckowski, of Perronville was the senior winner in Maple Grove school. He is in the eighth grade. Edward Piekutowski was second and Genevieve Adydan third. Edward stumbled on the word "attitude" spelling it "attitide," and Genevieve missed the word "journal" spelling it "journel."

Miss Charlotte Seymour, the teacher at Maple Grove, reports that before joining the bee her pupils never seemed to enjoy spelling, but now that all of the spellers are interested and aroused.

Senior winner at the Osier school was Esther Clabbots, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabbots, Trenary, a seventh grader. Esther stumbled on the word "existing" spelling it "exhisting," but not until she had spelled down Evelyn Juneau and Lillian Chenial, who placed second and third. Evelyn failed on "electrical" and Lillian missed "development."

Lloyd Clabbots, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clabbots and a brother of the senior winner, was the junior titlist. He defeated Orrile Chenial and Alphonse Cayer for the honor. Miss Elaine Johnson who teaches here reports that all her pupils, both junior and senior, took great interest in the event, and expressed a wish that the contest be continued each year.

William Geniessee, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Geniessee of Fayette, won the senior championship of the Fayette school. He is an eighth grader. Second place was won by Allan Follo, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Follo, of Fayette. He is also an eighth grader.

The junior winner was Hal Smith, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, and second place was won by Evelyn Dalgord, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hullie Dalgord. Both are fourth graders. Marie C. Maxwell teaches at the Fayette school.
